American Consulate in Warsaw Closed—Consul Rankin Leaves Today

WARSAW, Aug. 5, 4:35 p. m. (By the Associated Press).—Owing to the desperate situation on the front nearest Warsaw, the Kosciuszko squadron, the air force composed mostly of Americans attached to the Polish army, is being transferred from the southern front. The squadron will aid in the defense of the Polish capital.

The American consulate in Warsaw will be closed on Friday and Consul Rankin is making preparations to depart Friday night. Most of the records already have been shipped away.

The American legation is also prepared to close within a very few days. The legation employees have sent their baggage to Camp Grappe, the emergency headquarters of the American typhus expedition.

The operations of the Kosciuszko squadron will be begun in its new field within two or three days.

Meanwhile, bullet battered tanks which saw service in the great war rumbled through the streets of Warsaw.

COMMUNITY FIELD DAY

Seventeen Cities and Towns Represented at Gathering in Billerica

The annual community field day under the auspices of the Middlesex County Bureau of Agriculture and Home Economics, was held today at Billerica Centre and the affair was attended by about 400 people, representing seventeen towns and cities in northern and central Middlesex county. The program included a meeting for the women folks in the town hall in the forenoon, an automobile trip through various farms of the village by the men, and an entertainment and addresses on the common in the afternoon.

At 10 o'clock, the men gathered on the common and boarded about 50 automobiles, which conveyed them to the Tower farm on the Boston road, where the place was given a thorough inspection. Later, the party went to the Harry Dunlap farm, where a fine tractor demonstration was given. The last place visited was the garden truck farm of Mr. John Farmer, where the growing of tomatoes, sweet corn, cauliflower, etc., was explained. A. R. Jenks, county horticultural agent, acted as guide.

While the men were enjoying their automobile trip, the women gathered in the town hall and listened to a very interesting and instructive address on clothing efficiency by Miss Margaret L. Robinson, county home demonstration agent. At noon, the men and women gathered on the common and partook of a basket lunch.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, there was an entertainment which included readings by Hoyt L. Conary of Waltham, and between the hours of 2:30 and 4, a play festival was staged for the children under the direction of Manager F. D. Griggs. In the course of the afternoon, it was announced that similar events will be conducted in the near future at Groton, Stoneham and Framingham. The local committee in charge of the affair consisted of Charles A. Wright, director, and E. F. Dickinson.

The second raid was at 134 Tilden street, where a still and three gallons of alleged "moonshine" were taken. The tenant, Frank Aguilera, was arrested. SOVIETS' REPLY TO BRITAIN

Never Desired to Combine Armistice Negotiations With Peace Parley

Demands Terms of Truce Include Reasonable Guarantees

LONDON, Aug. 6.—Leo Kamenoff of the Russian soviet delegation here sent Premier Lloyd George last night a long communication giving the soviet government's reply to Great Britain's note of Tuesday with regard to the delay in the armistice negotiations between Russia and Poland.

Mr. Kamenoff's statement declares that the soviet government never desired to combine the negotiations for an armistice with negotiations for peace, but that it demands that the terms of the armistice include reasonable guarantees which would prevent attempts by Poland to use the period of the armistice for the renewal of hostile acts.

The sole obstacle in the way of the beginning of negotiations for the suspension of military operations, the note says, is the absence of the Polish delegates whose return is being awaited by the representatives of the soviet government in order that negotiations may be immediately opened.

"The Russian soviet government again declares that it is firm in the recognition of the freedom and independence of Poland, and its willingness to grant to the Polish state wider frontiers than were indicated by the supreme council and mentioned in the British note of July 20."

WELL PUT

Mr. C. H. Norton, a publicity man of National Reputation, says: "Thrift does not mean merely the saving of money, much less the parsimonious habit which borders on the miserly acquisition of gold for its own sake. In its widest and best sense thrift signifies the wise adaptation of one's income to getting the very best out of life, and in addition making careful provision for the unforseeable contingencies and against the inevitable coming on of age."

THRIFT, however, is not a virtue that operates exclusively to the rich or even the well-to-do. It may be learned and practiced by those in the humblest circumstances. It is the one sure method by which to rise in the world. The cultivation of Thrift—the habit of wisely caring for one's earnings—develops sterling qualities of citizenship making better men and better women, for it calls for some degree of self-sacrifice and self-control as well as for industry and prudence.

REOPEN FIGHT ON "DRY" LAW

Counsel for Brewer Feigenspan Petition Court to Reconsider Decision

Contents 18th Amendment Designed to Deal With Intoxicating Liquors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—William B. Guthrie and Ellihu Root, counsel for Christian Feigenspan, a brewer of Newark, N. J., today filed with the United States supreme court a petition for reconsideration of the court's decision on June 7, sustaining the validity of the 18th amendment and parts of the Volstead enforcement act. The petition contended that the 18th amendment was designed to deal exclusively with intoxicating liquors. Mr. Feigenspan in his original suit sought to prove that beer of 2.75 per cent alcoholic content is not intoxicating.

The latest petition pointed out the importance and magnitude of the constitutional questions involved and declared that, so far as the petitioner has been able to ascertain "there is no record of any important modern case involving such vital questions being disposed of by a court of final resort without explaining its conclusions."

The brief continued: "Not only is it quite unprecedented in the history of this court for it thus to dispose without opinion of great constitutional questions, but, as emphasized by Mr. Justice McKenna in his dissenting opinion, it is difficult to measure the force of the conclusions stated by the court or the dictations properly to be drawn from them. Furthermore, the conclusions do not completely answer questions actually involved in the litigation and submitted for decision."

The petition declared that the meaning and effect of such an amendment was necessarily the subject of discussion and concern in the forum of public opinion, and the failure of the court to assign any reasons for its decision has tended naturally to invite criticism and create much public dissatisfaction.

"It seems, therefore," the petition continued, "that it is not irrelevant or improper to urge, in support of a plea for a rehearing, that public opinion has doubted and challenged the wisdom of summarily deciding and disposing of a great constitutional controversy involving vast property interests and long established legitimate industries and intimately concerning the welfare of the whole people, without disclosing the reasons for such disposition."

RENEW EFFORTS TO FIND BABY

Officers Now Believe Pascol, Held at Philadelphia, Was Hired to Kidnap Boy

Think Missing Child Held by Woman—Pascol Admits Taking $12,000

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—Believing that Augusto Pascol, who was arrested Monday at Egg Harbor, N. J., not only is the man who obtained $12,000 from George H. Coughlin, father of the kidnapped Norristown baby, but is the actual abductor, federal and state authorities working on the case renewed their efforts today to learn the whereabouts of the child.

Pascol, who is also known to the police as Pasquale, and who has served prison terms in this and other cities, admits, according to postal inspectors, that he went to Egg Harbor last Monday to throw from a train an additional ransom for the return of the missing boy. He declares, the authorities say, that he was hired by another person to get the money and that he knows nothing of the kidnapping.

This, postal officials assert, leads them to believe that he also was hired to do the kidnapping. They think the person who hired him was a woman and that the baby is unharmed and in her keeping. State police and postal inspectors are now seeking her.

Investigation has established beyond doubt, according to George A. Leonard, chief postal inspector, that Pascol was the writer of "The Crank" letters demanding $12,000 ransom, which was left by Mr. Coughlin under a deserted trolley station on the outskirts of Norristown. The money disappeared and no trace of the child was found.

When he was released from prison here last March, after serving nine months, Pascol had no money. When he applied for a room in a lodging house in this city in June, shortly after Mr. Coughlin's $12,000 disappearance, he is said to have been plentifully supplied with funds. About the same time he deposited more than $2000 in a local trust company and later purchased a chicken farm at New Gretna, N. J., and an automobile.

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., August 6.—Following a night of rioting in which five persons are believed to have been killed and scores injured, comparative quiet was restored today. Approximately 5000 foreigners, against whom the rioters directed their attack, had left town and this, coupled with the arrival of 150 militiamen of the Ninth Illinois infantry, tended to bring about order.

A number of homes were burned and a pool hall was wrecked. The mob, at its height numbered about 4000 men. Foreigners fled in all directions, taking what articles of property they could with them.

The outbreak got under way shortly after 10 o'clock last night and continued to nearly daybreak. At times, the mob split up in sections and it was reported that some divisions drove foreigners into nearby woods.

FRANK CORCORAN DEAD

Blood Transfusion Failed to Save Life of Lowell Fireman

Members of the Lowell fire department and a large circle of his friends outside the department will be pained to learn of the death of Frank A. Corcoran, a member of the Protective company of the department, who died last evening at the Massachusetts General hospital in Boston after a brief illness.

Corcoran was one of the most popular members of the department and several of his comrades willingly submitted to blood transfusion during the past week in an effort to save his life. Following a serious operation, Corcoran suffered from loss of blood and the only hope of his physicians was that the transfusion of blood would save him.

Deceased had been a member of the department for several years. He was 36 years, 8 months and 19 days old. He was a member of the Lowell lodge of Elks and the Firemen's relief association. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Corcoran. The body was removed to his home, 15 Ames street, by Undertaker James W. McKenna.

Democrats Gathering at Dayton, O., for Great Quadrennial Event

Speculation on Brief But Important Insert in Acceptance Speech

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 6.—Democratic clans were gathering here today for their great quadrennial event, the presentation tomorrow of the American electorate of a presidential nominee—Gov. Cox of Ohio. All was ready for the governor's formal notification of nomination by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, who presided over the San Francisco convention and the candidate's address of acceptance declaring the broad lines of the campaign.

With Gov. Cox's address in type for tomorrow afternoon's newspapers, speculation increased today regarding the brief but important insert he has announced will be forthcoming tomorrow. The governor continued to hold it a secret. Speculation on its message centered principally on three subjects—a possible challenge to Senator Harding, his republican opponent, for a joint debate on the League of Nations; a specific statement on Article X of the league covenant, or a

New Type Sailing Ships Revive the Waning Glory of the Yankee Marine

The Oregon Fir, one of the gigantic new American sailing vessels of the Pacific, and formidable competitors for world commerce, spreading canvas on her maiden voyage to the Antipodes.

N.E.A. Staff Special
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—While legislative props for an ample, aggressive American merchant marine are being erected for trial and are being discussed throughout the shipping centers of the world, the new gigantic, six-masted schooners of the Pacific are setting out to restore the faded glory of the Yankee clipper, once mistress of the Seven Seas.

A few years ago it was mournfully admitted that the American flag was vanishing from the seas, following the sailing craft that embodied the full poetry of ocean traffic.

Now a growing fleet of huge vessels, the product of wartime ship building, is giving new promise and life to the romance of commerce. The six-masted schooners, Oregon Pine and Oregon Fir recently launched here, are forerunners of this type.

Originally designed by the U. S. shipping board as wooden steamships, the unfinished hulls were converted into sailing vessels after the armistice and taken over by the Grant Smith-Porter company of Portland.

The Oregon Pine and Oregon Fir are experiments in "community ships," stock in both vessels having been offered the people of Portland in limited lots.

The cargo and earning capacity of these ships is tremendous.

The Oregon Fir on her initial voyage to Melbourne carried 3,200,000 feet of lumber at $10 a thousand. And it has now been determined that this type will sail equally with half the present amount of ballast, so that each can be loaded with 2,500,000 feet of lumber or $10,000,000 worth.

The vessels are 282 feet long, with a capacity of 4150 tons. They carry 30,000 square feet of canvas. Each mast is 125 feet tall, 25 inches in diameter and weighs nine tons.

Two barkentines, under shipping board jurisdiction, have been added to the new Pacific fleet. One of them, the Anne Conyn, recently sailed from San Francisco to Sidney in 52 days, the record for sailing between the two ports in nine years.

COX TO SPEAK IN N. E.

Democratic Nominee Expects Taft to Help Elect Pro-League Men

DAYTON, O., Aug. 6.—Hope that ex-President Taft would aid toward electing a senate favoring the League of Nations was expressed yesterday by Gov. Cox, democratic presidential nominee.

"We have every expectation," said the statement, "that Judge Taft will urge republicans in every state where a primary contest is on for the nomination of a candidate for United States senator, to support the man or men who are in favor of the League of Nations. By so doing he can consistently remain a republican in the face of his statement that the position of his presidential candidate on this question is wrong."

Gov. Cox's statement was prompted by reports of success in the Missouri and Oklahoma democratic senatorial primaries of pro-league candidates, and by assurances of a democratic victory in New Hampshire. Gordon Woodbury, New Hampshire's representative on the notification committee, yesterday told the democratic candidate that the democrats would carry that state and also would defeat Senator Moses, republican.

Gov. Cox accepted tentatively an invitation to make at least one address in New Hampshire, probably at Manchester between Aug. 20 and Sept. 1, subject to arrangements of the speakers' bureau. The candidate said he hoped to make several addresses in New England about that time, having tentative dates in Connecticut and Massachusetts. He has never visited New England.

Much time was devoted by Gov. Cox yesterday to a survey of the woman suffrage fight in Tennessee. He exchanged Tennessee information with Mrs. Abby Scott Baker of the National Woman's Party and said that it was "a very complex situation," partly because of state constitutional questions raised regarding jurisdiction of the legislature to act on the proposed federal amendment.

Gov. Cox said much work would be required before favorable action in Tennessee could be assured. He had not received messages from members of the legislature urging a "hands off" policy and did not indicate his prospective replies.

Mrs. Baker said that the democratic nominee was doing much more effective work in Tennessee than Senator Harding, the republican candidate.

"Gov. Cox has been sending telegrams and doing work that really counts," said Mrs. Baker, who visited Senator Harding Wednesday. "While Senator Harding has been sending telegrams asking how he might help," it was suggested that the governor might visit Tennessee, but this was deemed improbable.

Gov. Cox said he viewed the visit here on Saturday of President Wilson's secretary, J. P. Tumulty, as without political significance. The governor added that besides the courtesy of Mr. Tumulty's visit he had known him for many years and was pleased that he would be here.

SEN. HARDING SPEAKS TO SPANISH WAR VETERANS

MARION, O., Aug. 4.—A plea that future question of peace and war be decided by the nation's conscience and not by any council of foreign powers was voiced by Senator Harding yesterday in a talk to a cheering crowd of Spanish War Veterans, gathered here in reunion.

"Here in America," he said, "we do not need anyone to tell us what our obligation is. I want America to play its part in the world, but I do not want a council of foreign powers at any time, for any reason, to summon the sons of America to battle."

It was a national spirit awakening to the defense of American rights, the nominee asserted, that led this country into both the Spanish war and the world war, and that always could be counted on to hold the republic secure. He added that although underlying considerations of humanity had urged the United States into both conflicts, it had required a physical infringement of national rights in each case to start the war.

The talk was made in response to the clamorous demands of the veterans, who were members of the 4th Ohio Infantry, when the Senator and Mrs. Harding accepted an invitation to be the regiment's guests of honor at their reunion.

The visit came near the end of a day given over by the nominee almost entirely to correspondence and other work at his desk. One subject of attention was the woman suffrage situation in Tennessee, which he canvassed carefully on the basis of detailed information gathered at his request by the republican national committee.

In the light of this information he determined to take a more direct course in appealing for ratification and sent telegrams to both suffrage and party leaders at Nashville expressing his views.

Neutralize Acids in Your Stomach

GET RID OF INDIGESTION

Few people realize the importance of keeping the stomach free from excessive hydrochloric acid. "Acid Stomach" is the cause of nine-tenths of all stomach trouble. The food sour and ferments bringing on Gas, Heartburn, Bloating, Indigestion, and the stomach pains that every sufferer knows so well. Pepain and artificial digestants are not needed. They give only temporary relief and often do great harm. Neutralize or sweeten the stomach acids after eating with a glass of warm or hot Magnesia water. A teaspoonful, or four tablets of pure Blaud's Magnesia to a glass of water is all that is required. Get a few ounces of Blaud's Magnesia from any reliable druggist and try this for a few weeks. Eat what you want and enjoy your meals.

In order to acquaint the public with the general telephone situation, and some of the reasons for delay in completing new installations—chief among which is the difficulty of getting the numerous kinds of necessary material—we have prepared a series of announcements of which this is the third.

New Telephone Equipment Scarce

We appreciate, and with deep sympathy, the feelings of a subscriber who has bought or leased a house in some section where, for the time being, we are without facilities, and who says to our commercial representative: "Why, you have poles and wires on the street and the house itself is wired. All you need to do is to connect us up."

We wish the solution were as simple as all that. There may be poles and wires, but every wire already assigned. There may be a cable, but not a spare circuit in the cable. There may be a spare circuit, but not another inch of available switchboard at the central office with which to connect that circuit. We have had new sections of switchboard delayed weeks in their operation because of the absence of such little accessories as ringing keys or relays.

The reason for this scarcity of telephone equipment is very simple. We couldn't maintain our usual ratio of advance construction during the war, because the government needed for war purposes the very things we needed for telephone purposes. Consequently our margin of reserve facilities was gradually absorbed by the demand.

We are short of copper wire, silk, rubber, clay, beeswax, glass, thread, porcelain, paper, paraffin, antimony, tin, shellac and other materials entering into the construction of telephone equipment because the whole world is short of these things or of material fabricated from them. Our engineers are searching the markets of the world for these things while other experts are endeavoring to develop satisfactory substitutes.

We are making progress in both directions, but it is necessarily slow because never has there been such a demand for service as at the present time. Incidentally, there has never, in a similar period, been such a fulfillment of demand.

We want to make clear to those awaiting telephone service that we realize the handicap under which they are laboring and are keenly desirous of removing it as soon as possible. We want them to understand, also, that building a telephone plant is not a matter of some poles and wire, but literally of hundreds of different kinds of material, raw or fabricated. Nevertheless the spirit of our people is not to set up this difficulty as an alibi, but rather as a challenge to their inventive genius and resourcefulness.

JAPAN'S COMMENT ON SMUGGLING CHARGE

TOKIO, Aug. 5. (By the Associated Press.)—The statement of Congressman Albert Johnson of Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 2, that thousands of Japanese are smuggled into the United States from Japan yearly, is giving evidence of a tendency to increase the feeling with regard to the United States, created by the arrival of the recent American note and subsequent newspaper attacks against America.

With reference to the statement of Congressman Johnson, who is chairman of the house sub-committee of immigration and naturalization and has been recently conducting an inquiry into the Japanese situation on the Pacific coast, the foreign office today made the following statement:

"We can only express surprise at the extraordinary statement made by Congressman Johnson at Tacoma. Details of the scheme, as outlined by Mr. Johnson, appear fantastic and most improbable. While solitary cases of smuggling come to our notice from time to time, it is unimaginable that such an involved and intricate program as described by Mr. Johnson should be systematically practiced by any group of individuals or organization."

"The Japanese government would gladly co-operate with the American government in exposing any such illegitimate and underhanded system. It is hoped that Mr. Johnson will give the names of the banks, associations or individuals concerned. All such information must be in the hands of Mr. Johnson, who otherwise would not have made the statement."

GODDEN SAYS PUBLICITY FROM MARION EVEN BELOW ETHICS OF COUNTY CAMPAIGN

DAYTON, Ohio, August 6.—Governor Cox today declined to comment on a statement from republican headquarters at Marion that free tickets and expense money were being offered to Marion citizens to attend the democratic celebration here tomorrow.

The delegations from Marion will be Marion people in fact, paying their own expenses, and I can understand that only its size is creating disturbance."

HAPPY PICNICKERS OFF TO THE BEACH

Three carloads of happy picnickers left the corner of Moore and Gorham street at 8 o'clock this morning bound for a day's outing at Revere beach. The affair was held under the auspices of the Holy Rosary sodality of the Sacred Heart church. were fired and the residents were clubbed and mauled as they emerged from the burning buildings to escape incineration.

Troops arrived under command of Major W. E. Satterfield. Two other companies from Cairo are expected later.

Finding the bodies of Amiel Calacorra, 13, and Tony Hempel, 18, buried in shallow graves yesterday, led to the arrest of Sattino de Sennia, who was spirited away from the jail at Marion, near West Frankfort, when county officials learned of the approach of a mob. Two other suspects arrested at West Frankfort, were also removed while the crowd was demanding their delivery. Attacks on foreigners and their homes quickly followed, according to reports.

A general exodus of foreigners is in progress at West Frankfort, according to reports.

A photographer who attempted to take pictures of the mob became the first victim. Reports said he was killed and beaten to death, and his camera was smashed. During the evening two foreigners were attacked and beaten to death, according to one report, while another report said four were killed.

The mob then turned its attention to the homes which the terrorized foreigners had vacated and many of these were soon in flames. City officials who had wired Governor Lowden to send troops were also warned by leaders of the mob to leave town, and the disorders continued unchecked.

According to several reports, Calacorra and Hempel were slain because they were believed to have gained information concerning the operations of a band which had committed several bank and postoffice robberies in southern Illinois recently.

West Frankfort police were informed yesterday, it is reported, that the Sennia was seen to accompany the two murdered youths out of town in an automobile. It was said they were not seen afterward.

front shows that after a halt of several days while reinforcements were brought up and supplies forwarded along the river, the Bolsheviks forced crossings of the Bug river at a number of places. At one point northeast of Ostrov, the soviet troops are reported to have crossed the river in large numbers.

Tonight's communique from headquarters announced that the Russians had forced the Bug river in the region of Drohiczyn (about 70 miles east of the capital) this being a part of the soviet movement to outflank the defenders of Warsaw and push towards the Vistula. The Poles counter attacked and fierce fighting is continuing.

Between Drohiczyn and Brest-Litovsk the communique continues, the Poles launched a counter attack against the Russians who had crossed the Bug below Brest-Litovsk. In the region of Drohiczyn, which is in the hands of the Russians they recoiled for an attack which compelled the Poles to evacuate Terespol, just west of the river.

There was fighting at various points to the south, but without gains for the Russians.

The soviet troops have been checked in their westward push along the Prussian border, the statement announces. They have reached Mysyniec in an advance apparently designed to bring them to the Warsaw-Danzig railway. Military observers assert that this is part of the Russian out-flanking movement planned to encircle the capital, thus saving the heavy losses which would result if Warsaw were attacked directly.

Russian gains are conceded north and east of Warsaw, where the soviet forces are regrouping for what may be the final exertion in their attempt to bring Poland to their terms of peace by directly threatening her capital.

In the center of the front bearing down upon Warsaw from the northeast, the Russians, according to the communique are being held along the Astrov-Czerwony line to the Bug.

Poles Evacuate Ostrov
LONDON, Aug. 6.—A semi-official message from Warsaw, filed last night, says the Poles have evacuated Ostrov, between the Bug and the Narew rivers, 25 miles southwest of Lomza, and about 55 miles northeast of Warsaw.

The dispatch declares that Polish officials believe that the present rate of advance if maintained, would bring the Russians into Warsaw in from seven to 10 days.

French Advances for Reds
LONDON, Aug. 6.—The forcing of the western Bug, the occupation of Kovel and Lutsk in Volhynia and other advances by the Russian soviet forces are announced in Thursday's official statement from Moscow, received to-

Along the river Styra, the soviet troops crossed to the right bank of the river and occupied Lutsk. Our advance is continuing. Bushatch was occupied Tuesday. PREMIER AND ASQUITH CLASH

Bitter Debate on Irish Crimes Bill—Motion to Reject Beaten

Asquith Blames Government for Irish Trouble—Says Cromwell Needed

LONDON, Aug. 6.—After a debate which developed great heat and a personal scene between Premier Lloyd George and Herbert H. Asquith, the Government at 11 o'clock last night defeated the motion of John Robert Clynes (Labourite) for rejection of the new Irish crimes bill and the measure passed second reading by a vote of 289 to 71. The voting was carried out under a motion moved in the house early yesterday by Andrew Bonar Law, providing for passage of the bill by 8 o'clock this evening.

At the very opening of the debate the days of Parnell were recalled. Mr. Asquith started an angry duel with the premier by declaring the situation in Ireland needed Cromwellian treatment, but that he could see no Cromwell in the government. The premier retorted, describing Mr. Asquith as Cromwell when he was in power.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary of Ireland, opened the discussion by explaining it was not intended for the bill to supersede the ordinary courts; it would only apply to disturbed areas at the discretion of the Irish government and would not be operated in a revengeful spirit.

Mr. Asquith then spoke, blaming the government for the present position in Ireland. This met with angry cries of dissent. He declared he was not scared by the spectre of an Irish republic, because he believed to concede dominion home rule to Ireland would cause the cry for a republic to dwindle away.

Heated protests were made that Asquith had never offered a solution of the difficulty.

"No," he replied, "but I am prepared to offer one now."

Mr. Lloyd George, in his attack on Mr. Asquith stated it was useless to make vague, ill-considered suggestions about dominion home rule and challenged Mr. Asquith to present the name of any one in Ireland able to speak for the Irish people, who would accept his dominion proposal.

There was not a single dominion, the premier added, but possessed an army and power to possess a navy, and asked whether Mr. Asquith would give Ireland an army and navy.

Irish ports, Mr. Lloyd George asserted, were the most dangerous spots in the empire. Were these to be handed over to the dominion parliament?

"Mr. Asquith is merely shirking the difficulty and making worse the situation," declared the premier, "by allowing it to be made known through Ireland and America that though these things are not intended, British statesmen are willing to give Ireland self-government."

Throughout his speech the premier was subjected to interruptions from both sides of the house, intervention of the speaker frequently being required to preserve order. In the course of his speeches against Mr. Asquith, the premier said it might have been supposed from Mr. Asquith's speech that Ireland was a paradise in 1918, whereas, he declared, the facts were that in that year there was an army of over 150,000 men in Ireland engaged in treasonable conspiracy and in negotiations with the Germans. He said this army had undertaken to attack Great Britain two months after the German offensive, of which it had been informed.

"It was in the same year," he went on, "we discovered documents in the pockets of men who are now leaders of Southwest Ireland, showing there was an arrangement between them and the Germans to attack us at the moment of our greatest peril."

Mr. Lloyd George's general argument was that the government was prepared to make great concessions for the sake of peace, good will, and partnership, but, he said, any dominion solution required definite assertions regarding the army, navy and ports, and defining the position of Ulster, which could not be forced into a home rule parliament.

No disposition to accept such a solution, continued the premier, was apparent in south and west Ireland. On the contrary he said the south and west were demanding something England could never concede except as a result of disaster and defeat. He believed there were hopeful indications of changing views concerning these extravagant demands, but while the campaign of outrage and murder continued, he stated, there was no alternative but the bill the government was now proposing.

The rule to confine the debate in the second reading of the Irish crimes bill to four hours, with final action tomorrow evening, was adopted, after some discussion, by a vote of 273 to 65. T. O'Connor, Sir Donald Maclean, Mr. Clynes and others who attacked the "hurry-up" method, declared their attack was not aimed against the bill itself, but contended a measure "removing constitutional rights of British citizens by the denial of trial by jury" should be granted freer discussion.

Mr. O'Connor asserted that with 20 coercion bills passed by parliament in the past 120 years, the least time for debate on any was 21 days.

Mr. Bonar Law pleaded for quick action because of what he termed the "necessity for setting up a sort of court system for Ireland immediately."

SIGNOR PONZI IS FINE-A MAN

Says Michael Gratiano of North End, Boston, Whom He Helped

"He Helpa Me—Now I Helpa Him," Quoth Admiring Investor

BY LORRY A. JACOBS.
N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
BOSTON, Aug. 6.—He's a good-a fine-a man, thesa Signor Ponzi. You tells the world I say so.
Michael Gratiano of the North End of Boston says this: Michael loaned Signor Ponzi, the money wizard of Pile Alley, $1000 of the money he had labored hard for, and it grew into $1500 in an amazingly short time. To Michael and others like him Ponzi is a wizard.
"Good-a, Fine-a Man"
"Some people say hadda things about Signor Ponzi," said Gratiano. "It is not so. He is so good-a man he would do nothing wrong to break the laws of thesa country. Tomorrow I go to offer him my $1500, if he needs. He helpa me—now I helpa heem."
"Signor Ponzi is one bigga-a-fine-a man. He has a bigga heart but much more he has the bigga heart. Did he not yesterday give $100,000 to the home for Italian children? Sure. And if he make money he likes that all his friends should make it, too."
"I asked Gratiano if he understood the system whereby Ponzi said he made money. He replied that he did not and with a shrug of the shoulders he cared not.
Group Approves
An excited little group had gathered by this time, and the dark heads were

"What Does It Matter If We Lose Everything?" Asks Mrs. Ponzi

shaking and the excited hand waving as they talked and all were insisting that beyond a doubt Signor Gratiano knew what he said when he said Signor Ponzi was a "good-a fine-a man." When Gratiano asked his listening friends if he were not right when he said that if Ponzi needed money he could have all they had, they were emphatic in their approval.
"What does it matter if we lose all?" asked Mrs. Rose Ponzi, wife of Boston's noted money manipulator. "We still have each other and that is all that is important as far as we are concerned."
The little black haired, black eyed Italian girl said that if Ponzi loses the $5,000,000 he claims to have made in the last eight months dealing in foreign exchange she'll be just as happy as she is now. If she has him.

FACES YOU SEE IN THE STREET CAR

Somebody has truthfully said that it takes a lot of people to make up a world. Well, in the same breath, it takes a lot of faces to make up a lot of people, doesn't it?
Pay your fare and enter any old average street car and join in on a slant at the flock of faces of the interior.
Sitting right near the conductor you will notice an elderly lady who looks scared to death. Know what's the matter with her? She is a stranger in town and is going to spring a surprise visit upon her son-in-law. She has just asked the conny to call a certain street and she feels certain he is going to forget all about it. (And think what a mean trick that would be on son-in-law.)
Down at the end of the car! Look at that fellow who has an "I hate the world" expression on his map. But you've got him all wrong. He's simply got a boll on the back of his neck. And it hurts!
The youngster whose eyes are a bit red and whose mouth hangs toward the ground isn't ordinarily of a disagreeable disposition. His mother is taking him to a dentist.
And lookit the heavy set fellow. His face is beaming all over with red. His mouth hangs open. But it isn't his natural expression or looks. He just ran a block to catch the car.

That slender young lady, all smiles, has just received a love letter. She's tickled pink.
Notice the worried look on the face of the fellow in the palm beach suit. He's already gone three blocks beyond his stop. The poor guy has only got a ten dollar bill in change and he hasn't the nerve to hand it to the conny.
Hanging to a strap is a lady who has her arms full of bundles. She's got one eye on a fellow sitting down in front of her and her other eye on a fellow who keeps bumping into her every time the car stops.
And the fellow who is sitting directly in front of her has that look that indicates that he still has a right touch of the gallantry of old, when all men used to stand up that women might sit. But his laziness is stronger than his "touch."
And before you get off the car, take a slant at the conductor himself. Nine different people have asked him to call their stops. The truth of the matter is, he's new on the line and doesn't know where the streets are. No wonder his phizog registers disgust.
End of the line! All out!
Follow rubber balls have been pelted by a Massachusetts man to be slipped over the legs of hens to discourage them from sitting.

Riches Not Happiness
"Riches? Oh, yes, money is fine in many ways," says Mrs. Ponzi. "It can bring you pleasure and permit you to make others happy. But it doesn't count for anything without a happy home. That's the best thing in the world."
"And we have that."
"If I thought for an instant that having all this money would take my husband away from me permanently—it has somewhat during the last several days—I'd gladly give it all up and go back to our little home and do my own housework again."
"Six O'Clock" Rule
She says her husband always has made it a rule to tell those who wish to see him on business after business hours: "I always have an engagement with my wife after 6 o'clock."
"We are always very happy," Mrs. Ponzi added. "Charles and mother and I have always been sufficient unto ourselves. We enjoy everything we do to the fullest because we are interested in the same things."
She says Ponzi always has been a dreamer, but that when dream after dream fell through, she didn't scold him, for she knew he got happiness from his dreams.
That $100 Job
"Once he turned down a job with a salary of $100 a week," she said. "I was puzzled and asked him why. He replied that a peanut stand you own yourself is better than the best salaried position in the world."
Mrs. Ponzi is now very happy, because her Charles has promised her that as soon as his affairs are "straightened out" he will put his old "six o'clock rule" in force again.
Asked how she met Ponzi, she replied that one day he saw her in school and told her teacher he was going to marry her.
"I doubted it, but he did," said Mrs. Ponzi. "He usually gets what he wants. And I'm proud he does."

FRANK E. DUNBAR

Invited to Become Member of Unitarian Campaign

Frank E. Dunbar of this city has been invited by William H. Taft to become a member of the national committee in charge of the forthcoming Unitarian religious, educational and financial campaign, the objects of which the former president believes to be fundamental in counteracting what he terms the irreligious tendencies of the times. Mr. Taft is honorary chairman of the committee.

"You will agree with me, I am sure," he states, "that there could be no more opportune time for every agency of the Unitarian church to join in a great nation-wide movement to spread the message of Unitarian Christianity, to counteract the irreligious tendencies of the times, and in so doing to weld our churches into a strong unified body conscious of its tremendous power for good. I say this because I feel that he spreading of Unitarianism and the strengthening of our churches are fundamental needs in our country."

The roster of the national committee, as announced by Mr. Taft, includes representative Unitarian laymen from all sections of the United States, with Ernest G. Adams of Boston as active chairman. Among these laymen are Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University; former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts; Morton D. Hull of Chicago; Jesse H. Metcalf of Providence; Charles H. Strong of New York; and Edwin S. Webster of Boston.

The barn owl, when she has young, brings a mouse to her nest about every 12 minutes.

The Mourning Dove (above) was taken to Dr. Arnold's bird hospital with his wing almost shot away. While the bird will never be able to fly again, it's life was saved and it is a permanent inmate of the hospital. At right is Dr. Arnold feeding an orphan robin.

WOUNDED BIRDS ARE NURSED AT HOSPITAL

By MABEL ABBOTT
N. E. A. Staff Correspondent
COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Aug. 5—Doctors and hospitals for horses, dogs and even cats, are not uncommon. But when a bird is hurt, it generally lies where it falls, to live or die without help.

Colorado Springs birds are lucky. If any child finds a sick or injured bird, he brings it to Dr. Arnold's bird hospital to be cured.

A Friend to Birds

Dr. W. W. Arnold, Colorado Springs physician, for years has maintained in his back yard a little hospital where all that he knows of medicine and surgery is at the service of any bird that needs it. Two or three times a year he visits every school in the city and some at considerable distances, taking with him some of his feathered patients and tells the children their stories, while the birds sit fearlessly on his hand.

As a result, the children are always on the lookout for birds in trouble, and the hospital is always full.

In it at present there are five mourning doves, a tanager—a magnificent fellow with red head, yellow breast and black beak, who was brought in two months ago with a broken wing and his tail pulled out—two desert larks, a black-headed grosbeak, a Bohemian waxwing, a magpie, a Junco, five Mexican finches and a whole orphan asylum of baby robins who had fallen out of their nests or been bereft of their parents.

Cheerful Patients

Dr. Arnold's smallest patient was a hummingbird, and his largest a golden eagle.

They are cheerful convalescents, he says, though they will pick their bandages off if they get a chance.

"Store birds are hurt in the city than in the country," Dr. Arnold explained, as he fed a motherless baby robin with hamburger steak. "Cats and telephone wires and all sorts of dangers lie in wait for them."

"A severe hailstorm once brought me 50 robins. I was able to save a good many."

Would Spread Idea

"I am trying to create a sentiment that will carry on the work of practical bird protection. The co-operation of the children is the most important thing."

Dr. Arnold received a letter recently from John Burroughs in which the great naturalist praised his work.

OPPOSITION IN

THE ICE BUSINESS

"A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse."

Bill Shakespeare, in these many days ago, made somebody say that, in "Richard the Third."

And ever since we've been looking for some nag that would fill the bill.

At last! We take great pleasure in presenting Old Bill. He's a thoroughbred equine, has four legs, one tail, a nose, two ears and a couple of perfectly good eyes. And Charlie Darwin tells us that those are the necessary elements that constitute a horse.

(Of course, Old Bill, under those specifications, might be a cow, a camel or a zebra—but he's a horse.)

When we first met William (that's what we called him before we got well acquainted) he was on the front end of an ice cart on the island of Passagrille, four miles into the Gulf of Mexico from St. Petersburg, Fla., across Boca Ceiga bay.

Bill (as we later knew him) was the most popular nag on the four-mile strip of land. Also he was the only nag on the island. On hot days, when the back porch ice chest contained nothing but space, his presence was especially appreciated.

Now we have discovered that somebody drove a driver over the bay and started in the ice business in opposition to Bill.

And should Bill worry? He should say not! The southern climate, well known for its spirit of laziness, had that effect on the old ice horse. They do say that toward the end of his business days he grew so slow that the 50 pound hunk of frozen water melted down to half that amount by the time it was delivered.

And just when we were about to hang a white lily on Bill, we happened to think of "a horse, a horse," etc.

It slips our mind just what that horse was wanted for, but Bill is long on service and we'll bet our brown derby that Bill can fill the bill.

And when you stop to think, our idea not only sounds logical but very appropriate—who knows but that Old Bill was named after Bill Shakespeare more than likely, many years after.

Shakespeare never denied this. So, with very little ceremony, we herewith turn the reins of William over to his new duty—and if he falls his task, we win anyway—it's a horse on somebody!

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO ACT ON FEEL'S PLEA

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Gov. Coolidge announced yesterday that he had declined to take action on pleas for clemency in behalf of Francisco Fecl, under sentence of death for the murder of Fred Soulia, the murdered man, was an inmate of the state prison, and an attorney for Fecl presented affidavits purporting to show that the murder was committed by Luigi Fecl, brother of Francisco, whose present whereabouts are unknown. Fecl's execution has been set for the week of Aug. 15. Gov. Coolidge yesterday said that he had received the impression from evidence adduced in the hearing that there remained nothing for him to do to change the course of the court's decree.

The governor states that the evidence tends to show that Louis Fred Soulia, the murdered man, was an industrious, estimable person, who was done away with for the protection of Fecl, who had been caught with stolen goods. Soulia, a law-abiding citizen was unfortunate, in that he had come in contact with Fecl and his friends when the latter were engaged in an unlawful transaction.

JOHN BARRYMORE WEDS MRS. THOMAS

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—John Barrymore, widely-known actor, and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, formerly Miss Blanche Oelrichs, socially prominent in this city, were married here yesterday in the Ritz Carlton hotel.

Rev. Dr. Charles D. Bullard, New York Presbyterian clergyman, performed the ceremony. It was attended by Mrs. Charles M. Oelrichs, the bride's mother; Mrs. Russell G. Colt (Ethel Barrymore), a sister of the groom; Thomas G. Patton, New York's postmaster; Mrs. D. Mackey of Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. John McCulloch, in whose apartment the wedding took place.

Mr. Barrymore broke down in health here last spring during the run of "Richard III," in which he was starred. This is his second marriage. His first wife was Katherine C. Harris, a New York society girl who divorced him several years ago.

Mrs. Thomas, who has written considerable poetry under the pen name of "Michael Strange," was married to Leonard Thomas, New York clubman, in 1910. She recently obtained a decree of divorce in Paris. They had two children.

Mr. Barrymore, whose real name is Blythe, gave his age as 37 and Mrs. Thomas as 29.

BROOK IMPROVEMENT PLAN

A report on plans for the improvement of Hale's brook will cost the city $69.61 this year, according to notification received by the assessors from the state authorities. LEAGUE DISCUSSES MILITARY PLAN

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 6.—The council of the League of Nations had as a part of its program for discussion

yesterday afternoon the establishment of a military and naval commission. This is not, as some published accounts of the project have stated, a plan for a military general staff for the League of Nations, but simply a consultative body within the league, its principal mission being to advise the league regarding restrictions upon the manufacture of arms and munitions.

The proposed commission also would give advice to the league as to disarmament and other questions on which the council requires expert advice; without which, it is pointed out, it could scarcely act upon any military question. Its prospective task is described by Leon Bourgeois, French member of the council, as "in accordance with the provisions of the covenant" to "regulate the armament of the forces of new states admitted to the league, and the reduction of armaments."

Soviets' Reply to Britain

of Europe would be guaranteed. The Kamenoff statement continues: "We are still of the opinion that direct negotiations with Poland for peace would serve the interests both of the Russian and Polish peoples."

The conference in London between Russia and the leading powers of the entente, the communication says, "would have for its object the regularization of the international position of Russia and the settlement of all outstanding questions between her and the allies for the benefit of general peace."

M. Kamenoff also refers to his interview with Premier Lloyd George Wednesday night and states that he forwarded to the soviet government the premier's statement "with regard to the decision of the British government to side with Poland and to renew the blockade in consequence of the invasion of ethnographical Poland by the troops of the soviet government."

ON TO WARSAW

"On to Warsaw" is the cry that today is ringing through the ranks of the "Red" hordes of the Russian Bolsheviks as they sweep onward toward the ancient Polish city. Apparently no human agency can now stay the onward movement. The Polish army, undernourished, poorly equipped, lacking ammunition, with women and boys of 15 fighting beneath its colors, is making a brave but, seemingly, wholly futile stand against the invasion. The soviet leaders, themselves, are probably powerless to stay the advance of their men with the prospects of victory and rich loot before them.

France, worn out with the long conflict of the world war, with a large part of its young manhood sleeping in soldiers' graves, with its hands full keeping watch over Germany and protecting its interests scattered over the world, is more in a position to temporize than to fight. Italy has her domestic troubles to occupy the minds of her statesmen.

It is to England, her own territory untouched by the war, affected the least of any of the allies by the great conflict, that it would seem that the world might look with some confidence for action to stay the onward progress of the cause of the soviet.

But England has serious troubles within her own household. Ireland, India and Egypt are in a state of unrest, the real extent of which the world probably knows very little about, but that is certainly sufficiently alarming to furnish abundant occupation for the British armed forces.

The British people, too, appear to be apathetic in the face of the great emergency. To them, apparently, if the "Red" peril is a real one, it is a distant one. English labor leaders are reported to be strongly opposed to the use of force against the Bolsheviks. The trading classes are intent upon the negotiation of a commercial treaty with the soviet.

A Bolshevik, triumphant in Poland, would be a force to be reckoned with in the world's affairs as it has not been up to this time. The capture of Warsaw would put heart into the forces of social destruction in the former central empires and all over the world.

STREET-RAILWAY MILLENIUM

The street-railway millennium seems to have arrived in Philadelphia. Down there the transportation company is still carrying nearly 95 per cent of its passengers, with free transfers to any part of the city, for a five cent fare. The other extra five or six per cent have to pay three cents extra for their transfer privileges.

The tracks of the company are in the best of condition. The cars are of a late pattern, clean, comfortable and roomy. Its equipment throughout is of the best.

The company has not had a labor disturbance in recent years. The employees are among the best paid street-railway workers in the country. They get 65 cents an hour now and soon they are to receive 72½ cents. That the workers are well satisfied with conditions is shown by the fact that when they were asked awhile ago to wait a little while for a pay raise, to which they were entitled under an agreement, they promptly expressed their willingness to do so.

The stockholders are also without cause for kicking. They are receiving five per cent dividends on their investments.

It shouldn't be thought that the Philadelphia street railway company has not had its troubles. When the present management took control, nine years ago, it was of a ramshackle, bankrupt concern near the verge of dissolution. A good part of its assets were deficits.

During the years that other street-railway concerns have been haggling down-hill, the Philadelphia concern has been climbing upward. Every step of its advance has been made with the burden on its back of the necessity of paying $10,000,000 every year to subsidiary companies owning "franchises."

How has it been done? From this distance it does not seem that the achievement has been brought about to a considerable extent, the result of a determined effort of the management of the company to place its relations with stockholders, public and workers on the basis of a "square deal" all around.

THE NEED OF BUSINESS MEN

"I first went into politics," said Congressman Alvan T. Fuller, in a recent letter to his constituents, "because I felt that what we needed most in our public affairs was men, not necessarily politically trained, but who had made a sound success in business."

Mr. Fuller is not the first, nor is he by any means likely to be the last, to feel the need that he describes. Talk has been going on about getting business men into public office for a good many years, and a good part of the talking has been done by business men. Nevertheless, the number of recruits from the business world, who have responded to the call for faithful public servants, has not been much greater than the number of snowflakes that are commonly seen in the air in summer.

The truth of the matter very likely is that a good many businessmen, admirably fitted for positions of public usefulness, are shy about running for office because they feel that somehow politics are an unfavorable mess that it is just as well not to get mixed up in.

They feel very likely that the lawyers, who monopolize probably about 75 per cent of the offices of real importance, have sharper wits than they have to guide them through the intricate mazes of getting nominated and elected, and that they seem to get through a term or two, or even a longer period, in the legislature, or in Washington, without very much harm to themselves or their professional prospects.

We need business men in the conduct of the affairs of city, state and nation. The problem is to get them where they ought to be and where they could render invaluable service for the public weal. There has been considerable talk about the enactment of a compulsory voting law. Perhaps it might be supplemented by an act making it mandatory that successful business men should get out before the public and get themselves seen and heard and elected to public office.

THE WORLD-MOVING LEVER

Mayor Hylan of New York, awhile ago, had a falling out with a Brooklyn newspaper reporter. He didn't like something that the reporter had printed about the affairs of the city government. That wasn't in the least degree unusual. Mayors, and other city officials, much nearer home than New York, have frequently felt the same way. In fact, it may be said to be almost a habit that many public officials acquire soon after they are inducted into office.

Mayor Hylan wasn't so wise as some of his fellows have been in the past. He didn't attempt to disguise the fact that he was peeved. It was not necessary that he should. He had a right to be peeved if he wanted to. But, he let his annoyance carry him a step too far, as later developments proved.

Orders were forthwith issued, with the mayor's signature at the bottom, that the Brooklyn reporter should not in the future be allowed to be present in the chamber of the board of estimate when the board was in session. It was something like the action of the Lowell school committee in shutting out the reporters and public from the sessions in which most of its business is considered.

The editors of the newspaper that the reporter represented thought the reporter represented thought might have some rights in the matter. Therefore they appealed to a Supreme Court Justice. Fawcett, ramshackle, bankrupt concern near the verge of dissolution. A good part of its assets were deficits.

During the years that other street-railway concerns have been haggling down-hill, the Philadelphia concern has been climbing upward. Every step of its advance has been made with the burden on its back of the necessity of paying $10,000,000 every year to subsidiary companies owning "franchises."

THE VACATION SEASON

The ancient Mosaic code embodied some pretty good ideas about vacations. It provided that every seventh day and every seventh year should be periods of rest, and that every fifteenth year should be given over to resting and rejoicing. Land, cattle, men and women were all included in the injunction that everybody and everything should have a chance to lay off and take it easy.

Such a scheme would not work well under modern conditions. We can't, most of us, even be satisfied to take one day off in seven for resting. If it should ever come to shutting up shop for a whole sabbatical year the world would wear itself out trying to invent ways for enjoying itself.

The nearest we can come nowadays to having a regular period of rest, aside from what we can get on the first day of the week, is found in the annual summer vacation. But, unfortunately, the majority of vacationists make use of the season of release from ordinary occupations for almost anything but resting.

Real rest is what most people need, though, instead of new forms of excitement and pleasure. Scientific investigators tell us that fatigue generates a poison in the system that, if it accumulates beyond a certain point, will stop the heart beating. Existence beyond 48 hours without sleep, we are told, is impossible.

An Englishman, dead, gone and mostly forgotten these many years, had a pretty good idea about resting. He put it into the form of a verse, which doesn't hurt it any. Here it is:

'Tis not by seeking, 'tis not by endless striving Thy quest is found.
Be still and listen;
Be still and drink the quiet of all around.

Colonel John F. Hunt, former commandant of the Fort Jay military prison, seems to have had a very tender regard for the sensibilities of Draft Evader Bergdoll when he allowed the deserter to walk out of jail, without handcuffs on his wrists, for the reason, as he states it, that their presence "would have made him and his party conspicuous."

The Chicago judge, who is trying to find out how it happened that the newspapers published accounts of the return of important grand jury indictments two hours before the jurors reported to him, is probably due to learn something about journalistic enterprise.

Shakespeare is said to have had a vocabulary of about 33,000 words, as against one of 600 or 700 possessed by the average person, but we will bet that he would have been stumped if he had read the announcement that a New York man has been appointed a representative in a bankers' "consortium" in China.

Governor Coolidge is pictured in the newspapers laying a cornerstone. Of course it is only a misguided democrat who would comment, "Wait until the voters get busy erecting his political tombstone next fall."

The Boston Herald would seem to be justified in objecting to a decision of the street commission that the designation of Williams court should be "Pie Alley" since it is supposed to have been Herald "pi" that named it.

How different what actually happens often is from what might be expected is illustrated by the announcement that, despite the dryness of prohibition, Lowell is drinking less water than usual this summer.

John D. Rockefeller has given a nickel to five-year-old Miss Edmee Robinson and, possibly it isn't necessary to add, along with it went the advice, "I hope you will put it in the savings bank."

It is a pathetic picture that is drawn of President Wilson, with his hair white as snow and face deeply furrowed with lines drawn by pain, presiding at a cabinet meeting.

Mr. Roosevelt, taking tea with the mistress of the White House, may have concluded that there are some compensations, after all, connected with being a vice presidential candidate.

It is hard lines that, just when a fellow's beginning to have a bully time enjoying vacation, the newspaper should go and print the announcement that the schools are to open September 13.

SEEN AND HEARD

It's a lot more discouraging to "feel like 30 cents" now than it was 10 years ago.

The turning of those several thousand barrels of beer into the sewer was enough to make an ale hound bay.

Judging from his utterances, we gauge to remark that Congressman Fuller is on pretty good terms with himself.

The man who went crazy in a Detroit restaurant must have ordered red raspberries and got more than eight. Surprise un-beamed him.

Had His Faculties
A well known comedian was sitting in his dressing room when his servant entered and said: "If you please, sir, there's a man at the front door, and he wants to know if you could give him a pass for his wife and six children to see the performance, as he's out of work."

"Who is the man?"
"Don't know, sir."
"He must be a madman," exclaimed the comedian. "His he got his faculties about him?"
"I—I think so, sir," stammered the maid. "He's got something tied up in a red handkerchief."—Rehebech Sunday Herald.

Japanese Are Clean
An American traveler testifies to the cleanliness of the Japanese. He had made his way into a tea house in a remote Japanese village and was half famished. A geisha girl ushered him into a spotless, airy room and brought him a cup of sweetened tea. As he could speak no Japanese, he tried to explain by signs that he wanted a full meal, but the girl though she smiled politely, failed to understand. So the traveler thought he would resort to another means. He took out his notebook and pencil, drew a fish and an egg, and handed the drawing to the geisha. This time she laughed delightedly, clapped her hands, and ran from the room. The traveler was pleased. He waited contentedly for his meal. Five or ten minutes passed. Then the door opened and two attendants staggered in with a portable bath, brimful of hot water, and a cake of soap.

The Resourceful Baron
A story is told of Baron Rothschild, who, during his lifetime, it is said, would never advance capital, not even to his closest friends, without collateral.

While at the Bourse in Paris he was approached by a close friend who had been hard hit and needed ready money badly. Feeling deeply for his friend, the baron thought for a moment and then said: "You know my business principles. I do not care to make an exception, but do want to help you, so I will escort you across the Bourse floor."

Talking earnestly about other things quite foreign to business, they walked together across the floor and then parted with a friendly handshake.

Immediately upon leaving the baron his friend's credit with those who had witnessed the conversation became unlimited.—New York Evening Post.

Irrigate the Garden

Don't sprinkle your backyard garden. Irrigate it. Ever hear some old backyard prophet cynically advise that that shower was only sufficient to wet the top of the ground and let the sun bake it to a crisp? Well, you sprinkle the garden in imitation of a rainfall. But the old garden hose would have to be employed for hours to get the effect of a good rain. After the garden is planted certain reservations should have been made for small home-made ditches. As nearly as possible these ditches should have a slight fall to the far end of the garden. They need not be more than four inches deep at the beginning and seven or eight inches deep at the end. Ditches should extend the full length of the garden at from six to eight feet intervals. Once each week this improvised irrigation system should be filled to capacity.

It's not too late to start now and you will be so pleased that next year you'll establish a complete system in the backyard farm.

Tomorrow

Loud chilling winds may hoarsely blow
From off the distant mountain.
A white winter on his wings of snow,
May hush the crystal fountain.
Sere, withered leaves, on every hand,
May tell of earth in sorrow.
A cold will scourge warm the land
And bring a glad tomorrow.

The storm may rather loud and fast,
Sweeping o'er the angry sky,
Rough winds may rock the stubborn mast,
And the waves ride mountain high:
Darkness may deepen in her gloom,
Nor stars relieve her sorrow,
Light will come trembling from her tomb
In golden-haired tomorrow.

The sun may chase the far-off cloud,
And leave the world in sadness,
Still will her smile break through the shroud,
And fill the air with gladness:
The day may lose her golden light,
Her tears the night may borrow,
Yet with her morning last goodnight,
She brings us fair tomorrow.

The thoughts that burn like altar fires,
Whose flames we dare not hush,
Whose flames we dare not hush,
Whose flames we dare not hush,
Whose flames we dare not hush,
Whose flames we dare not hush,
Whose flames we dare not hush,
Whose flames we dare not hush.

The riches of the lowly,
May lose the fervor of their glow,
Nor pleasure longer borrow,
Their music may forget to flow,
Till well again tomorrow.

The hopes, the loves of days come by,
May fade in joyous seeming,
The light that filled the radiant eve
May lose its early beaming.
Care's silver threads may gather o'er
The heart oppressed by sorrow,
Still brighter joys seem yet in store,
And promise much tomorrow.

The victory that crowns our life
May waver at its dawning,
Love may be wounded in the strife,
And tears may cloud our morning,
But with each fresh returning day,
Hope wins away our sorrow,
Sheds o'er the heart her blisful ray,
And whispers of tomorrow.

BROWN WITHDRAWS

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Harry N. Brown, of Acton, candidate for the republican nomination for state treasurer, has withdrawn from the contest. It was announced here last night. This leaves Treasurer Fred J. Burrell without opposition for the nomination. Mr. Brown's nomination papers had been protested on the ground that certain signatures had been appended by persons other than their owners.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

I met a man a few evenings ago who has a peculiar hobby. He is a Boston paper manufacturer and was passing through Lowell on his way to the White Mountains. His hobby is collecting information about shaving. I doubt if there is a man alive who knows as much about razors and the lathering and removal of beards. He has collected shaving implements from all over the world. He has specimens of about everything that has ever used for the purpose from primitive tweezers with which men used to pull the hair on their faces out by the roots down to the latest pattern safetyes. He can tell you of shaving customs, too, from the time of Moses and the prophets down to today. Anyone who gets into conversation with this gentleman is sooner or later quite certain to find that the talk has veered round to the subject of shaving. If the listener shows any very great amount of interest in the subject, he will probably be presented a small pamphlet, telling many things about shaving, that has been written and published at his own expense by the shaving expert. It is a little book worth having for any man who shaves. It gives some interesting advice about lathering the face. "Be careful," the book says, "not to have the lather too thick. Have the brush well soaked with water. The brush absorbs water and not soap. It is the beard that has absorbed the maximum of water that shaves easiest. The soap only prevents the water from evaporating too quickly. Vigorous rubbing is not necessary. Keep the lather well distributed over the face and the beard will take up the moisture. It will absorb very nearly all that it is capable of taking up in about three minutes usually."

William N. Goodell, president of the chamber of commerce, had a fancy experience in reading the other evening, and inasmuch as it pertains to one of the important branches of the chamber's activity, I believe it deserves repetition. It seems that Mr. Goodell was motoring to Lowell and happened to stop in Reading for a short while. Another motorist drew up near him, looked about in more or less bewildered as though he were not sure what direction he should take and finally asked Mr. Goodell the road to Lowell. "New!" pointed out the proper route and then the stranger said: "You see I've been following these chambers of commerce road signs all the way from Boston, but I don't see one around here." Mr. Goodell assured him that there was a sign pointing the way to Lowell just around the corner and that there would be more at frequent intervals between Reading and Lowell. "Not for a moment did the stranger suspect that he was talking with the head of the very organization which placed the signs along that and a dozen or more other routes radiating from Lowell."

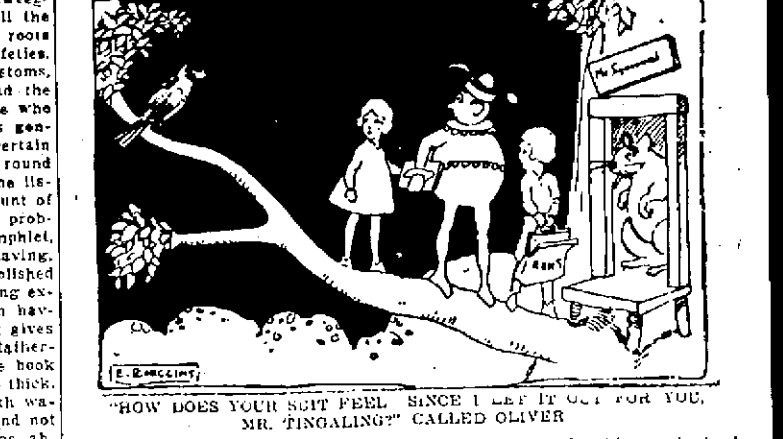

One of Lowell's most public spirited men was talking the other day about the maintenance of order in public places. I think the matter was brought up by a discussion of the Pawtucketville dance-hall controversy and the difficulty that might be experienced in maintaining order there. Then the subject switched to the municipal bath house and somebody said that reports were going around to the effect that conditions were not all they should be about the new building. Finally the public-spirited citizen could hold in no longer and he dilated for a while in the following vein: "This poppycock about not being able to maintain order makes me sick," he said. "What have we a police department for if not to keep the community orderly? That bath house was erected for the benefit and enjoyment of the people of Lowell and if a few undesirable characters are taking away its pleasure from people who are conducting themselves properly, it is up to the police department to patrol that section thoroughly. If one man can't keep order, put two up there. If two won't do it, put a dozen on duty. Put the entire force there, if such an extreme is necessary to show the rowdy element that it cannot predominate our city. There's no reason why the undesirable disturbing element should hold sway up there any more than at the Fayette street playground which the park department has abandoned. There was no necessity for that. Why weren't police officers sent there to prevent vandalism? Just so long as the city meekly withdraws from the advance of rowdies and hoodlums, just so long will the undesirable element keep up its work. If we have a police department, let's use it."

There was laid away in the grave yesterday the remains of the widely known and popular Chester A. Kennedy. The little church in Liberty and Hastings streets, where the services were held, was well filled with mourners and friends, who sorrowfully paid their last tribute to a sterling character whose untimely death came as a severe blow to all who knew him. The writer knew and admired him for his many splendid qualities and the simplicity of his generous and loving nature. Chester made no pretence at greatness, but the heart and the soul of the man were unconsciously displayed in his every act. He was a friend to be trusted and relied upon at every turn on life's highway. He loved his family and his friends and he carried cheer and good will wherever he went. We shall miss him for many things, especially for the brightening influence of his presence which banished worries and grouches and made the dark spots look bright in this old world of ours—the world to which he

RECENT SALES BY J. E. CONANT & CO.

J. E. Conant & Co. of this city have just completed two big sales, one at Port Huron, Michigan, and the other at West Springfield. The sale of the plant of the Foundation company-Port Huron Shipyard, Inc., at Port Huron, Michigan, on the 29th ultimo, was not as largely attended as the inquiries regarding the sale, preceding the day of sale, would indicate. The highest bidder for the property in all its entirety in one lot proved to be Hyman L. Goldman, at $218,000—this was undoubtedly a low price. Nevertheless the property was pledged at unrestricted and unprotected public sale, free from encumbrance. The sale of the eight hundred and seventy-six machine tools at West Springfield yesterday was a most unusual sale inasmuch as eight hundred and seventy-six machine tools was a most extraordinary offer and this is particularly true because there were so many duplicate machine tools in the sale yet everything was pledged to the highest bona fide bidder. The sale aggregated rising $30,000 and was completed within eight hours' time. Bidders in attendance came from some 15 states.

COMMITTEE OF 48 TO LEAVE FARMER-LABOR

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—An announcement that the committee of forty-eight was preparing to withdraw formally from all connection with the farmer-labor party, of which Parley P. Christensen is the presidential nominee, yesterday followed closely charges by H. A. McCollum and Charles A. Weaver who, in resigning as officials and members of the Utah farmer-labor organization, declared the party was controlled by the Industrial Workers of the World.

Reorganization of the committee of forty-eight along the lines of the party will be undertaken at a meeting of the executive committee next Monday, according to Allen McCurdy, secretary of the forty-eighters. In a statement issued today he said the farmer-labor party is a "radical" organization and does not adhere to the principles upon which the committee of forty-eight attempted to build a national party.

Replying to the charges of McCollum and Weaver, Mr. Christensen declared that the farmer-labor party is not under I.W.W. control, but is composed of "every-day Americans seeking relief from the intolerable economic autocracy obtaining in this country."

In a formal statement, Mr. Christensen challenged the political integrity of McCollum and Weaver.

Mr. McCurdy delivered the keynote address at the Chicago convention last month when the committee of forty-eight attempted through amalgamation with the labor and single tax parties and adherents of other political creeds, to form a party which should "oppose with equal firmness both reaction and revolution."

"The labor party of the United States," Mr. McCurdy said, "started out to create a class party which should appeal only to organized workers to the end that control of the American Federation of Labor should pass from its present leadership into that of the insurgents and to introduce guild socialism into American life."

"It is plain to any intelligent person that it is impossible for these two to meet, join, merge or amalgamate. Oil and water do not mix."

Mr. McCurdy asserted that while the committee of forty-eight had been nominally represented at the convention which nominated Mr. Christensen, most of the leaders and delegates had gone to their homes when they "saw that the principles of the forty-eighters had been swallowed completely by the radicalism of the laborites."

With the exception of the Maryland organization and certain individuals including Dudley Field Malone, who have subscribed to the farmer-labor platform, the committee of forty-eight is still intact, Mr. McCurdy said.

Late yesterday, the following telegram was received from the forty-eight headquarters from Salt Lake City:

"Utah committee of forty-eight intact. Organized labor represents the attitude of the farmer-labor party. Utah voters desire new liberal party not controlled by radical radicals."

The message was signed by H. A. McCollum, the former vice chairman of the Utah farmer-labor party, who resigned charging that the party had come under the control of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Before starting for Nashville, Tenn., late yesterday, Mr. Christensen sent telegrams to Senator Harding and Governor Cox of Ohio, urging that they go into the Tennessee state legislature and urge passage of the women suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature.

"I have received the appalling information that ratification by Tennessee is in grave doubt," the message declares.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS INVITES GERMANY

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 6. (By the Associated Press.)—The representative of every government participating in the international financial conference to be held in Brussels on Sept. 24, will be asked to present a balance sheet showing the actual financial situation of his nation. It was decided at Wednesday's meeting of the council of the League of Nations in session here. All countries will be asked not to issue any more paper money, so as to avoid a further weakening of foreign credit.

Efforts will be made, through a commission of experts, to arrive at an equitable arrangement for exchange between Germany and Austria and other nations, the money of the former central empires being regarded as beyond restoration to its pre-war exchange value. The invitation to Germany to participate in this conference is conceded to be tantamount to notice that she will be accepted as a member of the League of Nations, if she makes application.

Thirty allied, neutral and enemy states will be asked to join in the conference, the program of which will comprise four principal subjects—the financial policies of the different states, exchange and paper circulation, commercial relations and the re-establishment of international credit.

The league budget submitted at Wednesday's meeting showed the expenses of the council are growing as the number of commissions at work is multiplied. It asked for $300,000 ($1,310,000 at present exchange) for the ensuing six months.

ORGANIZING BUILDING FUND CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Friends and alumnae of St. Elizabeth's college, located at Convent station, N. J., about 21 miles from New York city and two miles from Morristown, N. J., the first Catholic college for women in the United States and the first college for women in New Jersey, are organizing a building fund campaign for the erection of an additional residence hall for students. The proposed building is urgently needed to meet the growing demand of applicants for student enrollment. It was announced. It has been estimated that $350,000 will be required for the new building.

Headquarters for the building fund campaign has been opened at 113 Liberty street, New York, and the active co-operation of volunteer workers in the campaign is now being enlisted. The movement has the endorsement of Bishop John J. O'Connor, head of the Newark diocese, in which St. Elizabeth's is located, as well as the support of many priests and laymen.

The college was founded in 1892 by Mother Mary Xavier, founder of the Sisters of Charity of New Jersey. Mother Mary Xavier, who died in 1915, was well known in educational and philanthropic circles, having founded more than 100 schools, including six academies and 33 parochial schools. She also founded six hospitals, five orphanages, three infant asylums, a home for incurables and a home for working girls, some of which are located in New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts, the majority being in New Jersey.

St. Elizabeth's fills the requirements demanded by the federal bureau of education for a standard college, and its degrees are accepted by the universities of the country on a par with those of the leading men's and women's colleges. Among the 27 Sisters of Charity who are members of the faculty of 35, there are graduates of Columbia, New York, Chicago and other universities.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY OF ITS OWN

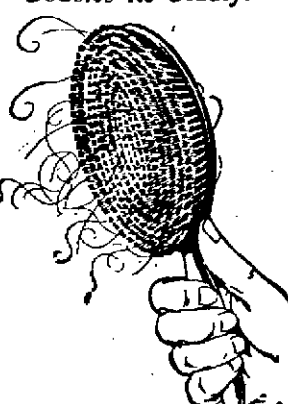

Crucially in love is the meaning of the marigold in the language of flowers.

Signifies Riches
To dream of marigolds, it was believed, would bring riches, success and a happy marriage. An old Breton superstition says that if a maiden touches the flower with her bare foot, she will understand the language of birds. The Mexicans call the marigold the flower of death, as it was believed that it sprang up from the blood of the natives slain by the early Spanish invaders in their lust for gold.

Color of Jealousy
The ancient Greeks tell the myth of the origin of the flower. Apollo was the handsomest of the gods and all the nymphs and shepherdesses fell in love with him. His sister Diana had as her attendants four wood-nymphs, who were wildly enamored of Apollo and quarreled frequently because of their jealousy of each other. Diana became very angry, and transformed the four nymphs into marigolds and since then yellow has been the color of jealousy.

FAMOUS ANARCHIST ARRESTED AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—John Alexander, alias John Lagranch, alleged international anarchist, and said to be a member of the German communist labor party, was arrested here yesterday at the request of the New York authorities.

Federal authorities said the arrest was the most important made since the war.

Alexander, or Lagranch, is said to be wanted in the east as a draft dodger. He has been distributing German propaganda in this country for some time, according to the police.

The arrest was made by Detective Sergeant Egan and members of the anarchist squad.

Egan took the man before Harry Landis, immigration inspector, who held him on the specific charge of attempting to obtain a forged passport. He is alleged to have tried to get a passport for a man named Hoffman, who is now in Germany. A code was seized in the search of Alexander's apartment.

Three hundred and forty-three death sentences were carried out in the British army during the war.

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

PONZI PLANS COMPANY

Projected $200,000,000 Firm
to be Formed—Palmer
May Act on Case

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—John P. Caswell, Robert John and Joseph E. Herman, all of New York, held a long conference at the Copley Plaza yesterday with Charles Ponzi, whose Securities Exchange company is under investigation by state and federal officials. At the close of the conference Mr. Ponzi came downstairs to announce that his projected $200,000,000 company will be formed as he had originally said it would.

The New Yorkers represented the Commonwealth Trading and Securities corporation of 25 West Forty-Third street, Mr. Caswell is the vice president of and a director in the Bolytan Wool company; Mr. John is an Englishman who is said to have large New York interests, and Mr. Herman was formerly associated with Cecil Rhodes. The new company will be called the "Charles Ponzi company" and will start a string of banks, an export business with steamship adjuncts and other businesses. Mr. Ponzi would not say whether the company would be on a partnership basis; he said yesterday's conference was the third he had had with these men, and that more are still to come. He promised a complete statement tomorrow.

(See Audit Only What Ponzi Offers.) The federal investigation of Ponzi's business went on behind closed doors again yesterday. U. S. Atty. Gallagher is on his way to Washington to confer with Atty. Gen. Palmer. Mr. Storck remains in Boston, and the federal officials' audit continues.

It is now known that Mr. Price, the auditor, cannot finish his work before Wednesday or Thursday of next week. His work is different in this case than in the usual case where business is arbitrarily stopped by the authorities, and all the books and papers of the concern under investigation are taken over.

In the Ponzi case the accountant gets the papers, the cancelled notes and the cards showing notes still outstanding, an awful lot at a time. What he has them all, he will have only what the Ponzi people give him as a total. If Ponzi should hold out some of his liabilities, the accountant would have no way of knowing that fact.

Belief Ponzi Issued 40,000 Notes

As the work progresses, it is possible to make a guess at the total number of notes Ponzi issued; they may possibly come between 40,000 and 50,000. But the numbering is not consecutive, though the notes bear serial numbers. There are duplications of some series, and blanks in others; all of which will make the accounting slower.

Yesterday's business of redemption of notes showed another falling off. About 400 notes were redeemed during the day, the total amount of money checked out being $148,993, according to Ponzi's office manager. The largest single note paid during the day was for $15,000—"and it came from a bank."

It was explained that this only meant a man in the banking business had held it. How much still remains to be redeemed nobody but Ponzi can say. It is even probable that he himself will not know accurately until he sees the accountant's report. When his liabilities are made known to him, Ponzi says, he will produce the cash to cover them.

Allow $2000 for Investigation

But the quotation of Mr. Price as saying, "I never saw so much money in my life," seems to have been a mistake. He hasn't seen any money at all yet. All he can say so far is that Ponzi and his employees have seemed to be entirely honest, have turned over the cards and cancelled notes as fast as they could—considering that they really need some of the material to check on payments being demanded—and so far have shown nothing that tends toward indicating any criminal business was under way.

A federal bank examiner came to Boston yesterday to confer with Asst. Dist. Atty. Sica, but as he has nothing to do with trust companies and Ponzi has done business entirely with such banks, there seems to be little significance in the visit.

Up on Beacon Hill the governor and council allowed it to be known yesterday that they had compromised on Atty. Gen. Allen's demand for $10,000

"Can't Cut Off My Leg" Says Railroad Engineer

"I am a railroad engineer; about 20 years ago my leg was seriously injured in an accident out West. Upon my refusing to allow the doctor to amputate it I was told it would be impossible to heal the wound. I have tried all kinds of salves and had many doctors in that 20 years, but to no avail. Finally I resolved to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT on my leg. You cannot imagine my astonishment when I found it was doing what over 100 things had failed to do. My leg is now completely cured."—Gus Hault, 729 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"It makes me feel proud to be able to produce an ointment like that," says Peterson of Buffalo. "Not only do I guarantee Peterson's Ointment for old sores and wounds, but for eczema, salt rheum, ulcers, chafing, itching skin and blind, bleeding or itching piles. I put up a box for 60 cents at all drug stores, a price all can afford to pay and money back if not satisfied." Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

for the expenses of investigating Ponzi and the automobile theft cases, it was allowed $5000. In the afternoon Atty. Gen. Oscar E. Young of New Hampshire was in conference with Mr. Allen for a long time on the Ponzi case.

MR. AND MRS. E. S. CAVE

ROMANTIC WEDDING

New Hampshire "Cider King" Weds Childhood Sweetheart

N. E. A. Staff Special
PERERBOROUGH, Eng., Aug. 6.—After waiting 40 years for the return from the United States of E. S. Cave, "the Cider King" of Hollis, N. H., her childhood chum, Olive Neal of Peterborough, has at last become the bride of her first love.

This romantic wedding, with its story of a woman's patience and a man's wanderings abroad and reappearance at the door of the home of the first sweetheart of his boyhood days, has greatly stirred England.

Cave had seen his prospective bride but once, when she was 15 years old, though the two families corresponded for years.

Cave left England for the United States in 1851. Reaching Chicago almost penniless he went to work at a coal yard. Later he was in the meat business in the west.

He kept books. He made butter. He worked as an inventor—patented a churn and cleaned up.

The late J. I. Morgan saw Cave making butter and took him to superintending his model farm near West Point. While with the millionaire Cave captured most of the prizes for cattle, sheep, chickens and butter at the Orange county fairs.

The last 17 years he has lived at Hollis, N. H. He was a justice of the peace and an apple grower. He knew him as "The Cider King." Then a few months ago Cave wrote and asked Miss Neal to marry him. Both are now 65 years old. They are going to settle down in the old country.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents)

THE STRAND

"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," the force that set New York gazing, and that soon spread all over the country on the stage, is being shown at the Strand theatre the last half of the present week, and it is acknowledged by all as positively the funniest picture in conception and in execution presented locally in many long months. It is really a very cleverly written story. The situations are primed with laughter and the acting by Ruth Stonehouse, Eugene Pallette and others is quite in a class by itself. Don't miss this screaming picture. Gladys Brockwell, the eminent dramatic star, is also appearing in one of her best pictures, "A Sister to Salome." It is the story of a woman's dual existence.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Sherry," the Edgar Lewis production now showing at the Merrimack Square theatre, is the story of a young American who had more money than was good for him. He spent a fortune in short order and then handed the natives of his home town a surprise by turning over a new leaf and getting some experience earning money. The picture is an adaptation of George Barr McCutcheon's novel of the same name and it is replete with romance and adventure. Pat O'Malley plays the title role and he is supported by an all-star cast. "The Woman God Sent," a story of political life, featuring Anna Leefer, the International News, Photoplay Magazine and a comedy round out the bill.

The price of an Egyptian war chariot at the time of Solomon was about $300.

The idea that the century plant blooms only once in a hundred years is a popular fallacy.

The next good thing about this sale is that it embraces our entire regular stock of these Shoes—not shoes bought for a sale, or a lot of left-overs.

If this were the usual season-end clearance sale, we could never make such enormous reductions in our prices. It wouldn't be necessary, nor could we afford to do it. But this sale has a broader aim than clearance. It is aimed to break down outrageously high prices that are not only putting dents into our pocketbook, but hurting every merchant's business as well.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Mathews and Gas Light West Ends will be the attraction on the So. common tomorrow afternoon. These teams have met twice before and close games have resulted, and tomorrow's game should prove a good one. For the Mathews, Desmarais is slated to pitch and Lawson to catch, while for the Gas Light, Mulino will be on the mound and Connors on the receiving end.

The Crescent Hill Juniors successfully defended their claim to the 13-11 year old championship of the city by defeating the Liberty A. C., 3 to 0, in a recent game.

CLARKE AND WILSON

MAY MEET IN N. Y.

Johnny Wilson, who recently defeated Mike O'Dowd, may defend his middleweight laurels against Jackie Clarke, the A.P. titleholder, over the 15 rounds trail, to a decision, in Madison Square Garden, when boxing returns in New York state. Tex Rickard is anxious to clinch the match and it is up to Wilson's manager to sign the articles.

Charles W. Kitzinger, the Allentown, Pa., sportsman, is handling Clarke's affairs, and he is ready to sign up for a bout with Wilson. While O'Dowd was champion Clarke fought him eight rounds in New York state.

Clarke has engaged in 36 contests since he was mustered out of service, against such men as George Chin, Tommy Rowan, Chuck Wiggins, and one of two other good men. His last fight was against Wiggins at Indianapolis, July 26th. Clarke has also beaten Joe Egan of Boston.

GOLF TOURNAMENT

MARTIN-CARBONNE BOUT MURPHY MADE GREAT GRAND CIRCUIT RACES NAVY YARD WORKERS DEMAND INCREASE

CALLED "NO CONTEST"

The Crescent A.A. resumed indoor boxing at the Hurd Street rink last night, and provided three hurricane preliminary events, but the main bout proved a "no contest."

In the final number of the evening, Martin of New York and Frank Carbonne of Bayonne, N. J., two prominent middleweights, with very impressive records, were the principals.

They have performed in many bouts meeting many of the leaders of their class throughout the country, and the numbers looked for a strenuous number. But they looked in vain, for the boxers, after looking over the house, evidently decided that they would do a "brother act."

Topsy attempted to fool the wrong way, however, for Matchmaker Harvey and Referee Gardner had seen the men fight before and realized shortly after the first going, that they did not intend to perform up to the mark.

Gardner had refereed and seen many bouts in which the pair had participated and he knew well of their ability. He officiated in a bout between Martin and Mike O'Dowd, former champion, at Providence, and he knew that the silent one gave the aggressive Mike a great battle.

Both are fighters and not boxers," said Billy after the bout, "and I know the minute they attempted to box they were going to try and put something over."

After warning the men and their managers in the first round and again in the second, with all the noticeable improvement, the referee gave them one more chance. They failed to take advantage of his generosity, and after looking on with disgust for about one minute, he finally round the referee halted the performance and declared the bout "no contest."

Announcer Hoane then stepped into the ring and informed the members to keep their checks for next week. They will admit the hearing to the Thursday night's meeting when Billy Fitzsimmons of Chelsea, who appeared in a sensational 12-round draw here last Saturday, will perform in a return engagement. The announcement brought vigorous applause.

The first bout of the evening was between Young Carroll and Young Murphy. It was a summer while it lasted with both boys working at top speed. In the fourth Murphy slipped over a sleep producer and the curtain came down.

The second number was short and sweet. Jack Little of Lowell started out like a whirlwind against Mike Langford of Chelsea, but the speed proved too fast for him and after taking a fusillade of blows he went to the carpet as the bell sounded. At the count of four the bell sounded and he went to his corner groggy and a sponge was thrown in just before the bell for the second session.

Barney Biko and Young Ketchell, rival Lawrence battlers, were the principals in the semi-final, and proved to be a thrilling number. It went the distance, 8 rounds, with action every second the pair were very evenly matched and must have been in perfect condition must they traveled at a terrific clip and gave and took considerable punishment. Both hit hard and often and tired at times, they always were able to come back strong. That the performers satisfied the members was indicated by the applause accorded the boxers. Referee Gardner's decision of a draw was well received. It was a good award.

AT WOONSOCKET

Allie Wood the Great Wins With New Driver

WOONSOCKET, Aug. 6.—Allie Wood the Great captured first money in the 215 trot here yesterday, but it was not after the judges had pulled Driver Horton from the sulky and put him in the Warman up. Warman was given him of the Allie Wood's winnings and Horton was suspended for 10 days.

In the first two heats of the trot Allie Wood the Great acted badly on the getaway. Horton was called to the stand and warned and when the third heat showed no better start, Dave Warman was called in. Under Warman's handling the getting appeared like a different stepper and though it was a walkaway he took the next three heats.

The 200 paces was the fast race and it took six hits for Bernie Hayt to land first honors. Baron Att was the favorite and in the first three heats was up with the leaders, but lacked the stamina to win. The summary:

HIT AT MONTREAL

As Billy Murphy, the New York featherweight, a great hit here when he boxed Billy Fitzsimmons a sensational 12-round draw at Spaulding's rink, the following clipping from the Montreal Daily Star, giving an account of the fight, is worth a read.

"Does anybody here know Murphy? His hair is red and his eyes are blue. And he's Irish through and through. His English name is Murphy. Murphy with his green, green pants."

"Thus warbled a happy Irishman in the bleachers at the Mount Royal Arena, after Willie Murphy of New York, thus far to Montrealers unknown, but out it all over young Lewis. Murphy was much lighter than the local man and must have weighed pounds less."

But what he lacked in weight and speedness he made up in tenacity and knowledge of boxing backed by a fighting spirit that must have been bred into him from many generations down."

As a boxing bout, his encounter with Lewis was a farce, and with all respect to Lewis, James J. McKinnley, who as a rule makes a very good third in the ring, the latter was a good deal to blame for allowing Lewis to hold three quarters of the time which the local man was unable to do."

Hal Malone Wins Sweepstakes for 2.05 Paces After Losing First Heat

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 6.—Hal Malone won the sweepstakes for the 2.05 paces after losing the first heat to John Henry, while Great Britain won the Toledo Times, 2:11 trot for three-year-olds, the features on yesterday's Grand Circuit racing card at the Fort Miami track. The track was fast, the weather ideal and a large crowd turned out to see the sport.

Arlon McKinnley won his first race of the season on the Grand Circuit when he took the 2:12 trot, but four heats were necessary as Letanna S. came through in the second heat and Watson, Princeton, won the third. The heat winners then raced it on and Arlon McKinnley led all the way.

John Henry led the entire distance in the first heat of the 2.05 pace, but Hal Malone outpaced the son of Wink in the next two heats, beating him in the stretch drive.

Louis Gratton won over the favorite, Goldie Todd, in the 2.03 pace, in scratch heats. The first quarter of the second heat was paced in 25 seconds.

Great Britain equaled the mark made by Day Star at Kalamazoo and was tied for the fastest mile for three-year-olds this year when he stepped both heats of the 2:14 trot in 2:07½.

QUESTIONS ACTIONS OF DRY AGENTS

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The question as to whether United States Commissioner Hayes should pass upon the methods used by prohibition agents in obtaining liquor evidence came up at length yesterday during the hearings of Max Cohen and Louis Hoffman, both of whom reside in the same tenement on Kimball avenue, Revere.

Liquor in Homes

Both men were arrested, liquor being found in their homes.

Mrs. Cohen told the court she and her husband arrived at their door from a movie show to find the agents ringing the bell. She asked their business and they said, "They were federal agents and were going to search the place," she said. "They admitted they had no warrant, but also stated 'They didn't need one,'" said Mrs. Cohen. This, however, the agent denied. She also said the alcohol, which was seized, she had bought before the prohibition law went into effect.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Hutton believed the commissioner simply should consider the evidence that was before him. "That won't go down," said Commissioner Hayes. "Has a man the right to go into another's house and say 'I am a federal agent, I want to search? If there are any of this opinion in this district, I'll look them over. Otherwise I should rule they were acting illegally.'"

The Cohen case was postponed, but Hoffman, whose case was somewhat similar, was discharged.

FOUR STEAMSHIPS RUSH TO AID FREIGHTER

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Four steamships today were hurrying to the aid of the new freighter Supertico, which sent a radio message last night saying she was leaking badly and was heading for Halifax. The water was gaining on the pumps today, the Supertico reported, and, although her officers did not consider her in immediate danger, they asked that the vessels stand by ready to lend assistance if needed.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-Face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.—Adv.

MORE LIGHTS FOR SOUTH COMMON

Recommendations that the South common be more adequately lighted, that a patrol box be placed in the center of the common and that a special officer be detailed to patrol that section in the evening are contained in the regular monthly report of Miss Emily M. Skilton, one of Lowell's policewomen, to Mayor Perry D. Thompson, covering the month of July.

Miss Skilton also reports that Miss Inah Lowell and Miss Ruth Foss of the Florence Crittenton league made a survey of the camps at Willow Dale on June 26 and 27 and found little there to criticize.

The average age of young women coming under the care of the local policewomen is 17, Miss Skilton reports, and they represented during the month of July 16 different nationalities. Mrs. Mary M. Hearn and Miss Lowell have also submitted reports of their work for the month to the mayor.

New Type Sailing Ships Revive the Waning Glory of the Yankee Marine

The Oregon Fir, one of the gigantic new American sailing vessels of the Pacific, and formidable competitors for world commerce, spreading canvas on her maiden voyage to the Antipodes.

N.E.A. Staff Special
PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 6.—While legislative props for an ample, aggressive American merchant marine are being erected for trial and are being discussed throughout the shipping centers of the world, the new gigantic, six-masted schooners of the Pacific are setting out to restore the faded glory of the Yankee clipper, once mistress of the Seven Seas.

A few years ago it was mournfully admitted that the American flag was vanishing from the seas, following the sailing craft that embodied the full poetry of ocean traffic.

Now a growing fleet of huge vessels, the product of wartime ship building, is giving new promise and life to the romance of commerce. The six-masted schooners, Oregon Pine and Oregon Fir recently launched here, are forerunners of this type.

Originally designed by the U. S. ship-ping board as wooden steamships, the unfinished hulls were converted into sailing vessels after the armistice and taken over by the Grant Smith-Porter company of Portland.

The Oregon Pine and Oregon Fir are experiments in "community ships," stock in both vessels having been offered the people of Portland in limited lots.

The cargo and earning capacity of these ships is tremendous.

The Oregon Fir on her initial voyage to Melbourne carried 2,500,000 feet of lumber at $10 a thousand. And it has now been determined that this type will sail equally with half the present amount of ballast, so that each can be loaded with 2,500,000 feet of lumber or $10,000,000 worth.

The vessels are 282 feet long, with a capacity of 4150 tons. They carry 30,000 square feet of canvas. Each mast is 125 feet tall, 23 inches in diameter and weighs nine tons.

Two barkentines, under shipping board jurisdiction, have been added to the new Pacific fleet. One of them, the Anne Comyn, recently sailed from San Francisco to Sydney in 12 days, the record for sailing between the two ports in nine years.

Gov. Cox said much work would be required before favorable action in Tennessee could be assured. He had not received messages from members of the legislature urging a "hands off" policy and did not indicate his prospective replies.

Mrs. Baker said that the democratic nominee was doing much more effective work in Tennessee than Senator Harding, the republican candidate.

"Gov. Cox has been sending telegrams and doing work that really counts," said Mrs. Baker, who visited Senator Harding Wednesday, "while Senator Harding has been sending telegrams asking how he might help." It was suggested that the governor might visit Tennessee, but this was deemed improbable.

Gov. Cox said he viewed the visit here on Saturday of President Wilson's secretary, J. P. Tumulty, as without political significance. The governor added that besides the courtesy of Mr. Tumulty's visit he had known him for many years and was pleased that he would be here.

SEN. HARDING SPEAKS TO SPANISH WAR VETERANS

MARION, O., Aug. 6.—A plea that future question of peace and war be decided by the nation's conscience and not by any council of foreign powers was voiced by Senator Harding yesterday in a talk to a cheering crowd of Spanish War Veterans, gathered here in reunion.

"Here in America," he said, "we do not need anyone to tell us what our obligation is. I want America to play its part in the world, but I do not want a council of foreign powers at any time, for any reason, to summon the sons of America to battle."

It was a national spirit awakening to the defense of American rights, the nominee asserted, that led this country into both the Spanish war and the world war, and that always could be counted on to hold the republic secure. He added that although underlying considerations of humanity had urged the United States into both conflicts, it had required a physical infringement of national rights in each case to start the war.

The talk was made in response to the clamorous demands of the veterans, who were members of the 4th Ohio Infantry, when the Senator and Mrs. Harding accepted an invitation to be the regiment's guests of honor at their reunion.

The visit came near the end of a day given over by the nominee almost entirely to correspondence and other work at his desk. One subject of attention was the woman suffrage situation in Tennessee, which he canvassed carefully on the basis of detailed information gathered at his request by the republican national committee.

In the light of this information he determined to take a more direct course in appealing for ratification and sent telegrams to both suffrage and party leaders at Nashville expressing his views.

ing five new members were initiated and reports of the state convention held in Lynn July 24 and 25 were given by Ray L. Hutchinson, Patrick O'Rourke and John H. Bell.

Neutralize Acids in Your Stomach GET RID OF INDIGESTION

Few people realize the importance of keeping the stomach free from excessive hydrochloric acid. Yet Acid Stomach is the cause of nine-tenths of all stomach trouble. The food source and ferments bringing on Gas, Heartburn, Bloating, Indigestion, and the stomach pains that every sufferer knows so well. Pepsin and artificial digestants are not needed. They give only temporary relief and often do great harm. Neutralize or sweeten the stomach acids after eating with a glass of warm or hot Magnesia water. A teaspoonful, or four tablets of pure Bisulphated Magnesia to a glass of water is all that is required. Get a few ounces of Bisulphated Magnesia from any reliable druggist and try this for a few weeks. Eat what you want and enjoy your meals. —Ady.

In order to acquaint the public with the general telephone situation, and some of the reasons for delay in completing new installations—chief among which is the difficulty of getting the numerous kinds of necessary material—we have prepared a series of announcements of which this is the third.

New Telephone Equipment Scarce

We appreciate, and with deep sympathy, the feelings of a subscriber who has bought or leased a house in some section where, for the time being, we are without facilities, and who says to our commercial representative: "Why, you have poles and wires on the street and the house itself is wired. All you need to do is to connect us up."

We wish the solution were as simple as all that. There may be poles and wires, but every wire already assigned. There may be a cable, but not a spare circuit in the cable. There may be a spare circuit, but not another inch of available switchboard at the central office with which to connect that circuit. We have had new sections of switchboard delayed weeks in their operation because of the absence of such little accessories as ringing keys or relays.

The reason for this scarcity of telephone equipment is very simple. We couldn't maintain our usual ratio of advance construction during the war, because the government needed for war purposes the very things we needed for telephone purposes. Consequently our margin of reserve facilities was gradually absorbed by the demand.

We are short of copper wire, silk, rubber, clay, beeswax, glass, thread, porcelain, paper, paraffin, antimony, tin, shellac and other materials entering into the construction of telephone equipment because the whole world is short of these things or of material fabricated from them. Our engineers are searching the markets of the world for these things while other experts are endeavoring to develop satisfactory substitutes.

We are making progress in both directions, but it is necessarily slow because never has there been such a demand for service as at the present time. Incidentally, there has never, in a similar period, been such a fulfillment of demand.

We want to make clear to those awaiting telephone service that we realize the handicap under which they are laboring and are keenly desirous of removing it as soon as possible. We want them to understand, also, that building a telephone plant is not a matter of some poles and wire, but literally of hundreds of different kinds of material, raw or fabricated. Nevertheless the spirit of our people is not to set up this difficulty as an alibi, but rather as a challenge to their inventive genius and resourcefulness.

JAPAN'S COMMENT ON WILL PAY OWN EXPENSES SMUGGLING CHARGE

TOKIO, Aug. 5. (By the Associated Press.)—The statement of Congressman Albert Johnson of Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 2, that thousands of Japanese are smuggled into the United States from Japan yearly, is giving evidence of a tendency to increase the feeling with regard to the United States, created by the arrival of the recent American note and subsequent newspaper attacks against America.

With reference to the statement of Congressman Johnson, who is chairman of the house sub-committee of immigration and naturalization and has been recently conducting an inquiry into the Japanese situation on the Pacific coast, the foreign office today made the following statement:

"We can only express surprise at the extraordinary statement made by Congressman Johnson at Tacoma. Details of the scheme, as outlined by Mr. Johnson, appear fantastic and most improbable. While solitary cases of smuggling come to our notice from time to time, it is unimaginable that such an involved and intricate program as described by Mr. Johnson should be systematically practiced by any group of individuals or organization."

"The Japanese government would gladly co-operate with the American government in exposing any such illegitimate and underhanded system. It is hoped that Mr. Johnson will give the names of the banks, associations or individuals concerned. All such information must be in the hands of Mr. Johnson, who otherwise would not have made the statement."

Godden Says Publicity From Marion Even Below Ethics of County Campaign

DAYTON, Ohio, August 6.—Governor Cox today declined to comment on a statement from republican headquarters at Marion that free tickets and expense money were being offered to Marion citizens to attend the democratic celebration here tomorrow.

S. J. Godden, secretary of the Ohio democratic executive committee, said: "The sort of publicity that is coming out of Marion is even below the ethics of a county campaign. The delegations from Marion will be Marion people in fact, paying their own expenses, and I can understand that only its size is creating disturbance."

Governor Cox has received word that William G. McAdoo and Attorney General Palmer, who were given special invitations cannot, on account of urgent business engagements, be present.

were fired and the residents were clubbed and mauled as they emerged from the burning buildings to escape incineration.

Troops arrived under command of Major W. E. Satterfield. Two other companies from Cairo are expected later. Finding the bodies of Amiel Calcuterra, 19, and Tony Hempel, 18, buried in shallow graves yesterday, led to the arrest of Settino de Senis, who was split away from the jail at Marion, near West Frankfort, when county officials learned of the approach of a mob. Two other suspects arrested at West Frankfort were also removed while the crowd was demanding their delivery. Attacks on foreigners and their homes quickly followed, according to reports.

A general exodus of foreigners is in progress at West Frankfort, according to reports.

A photographer who attempted to take pictures of the mob became the first victim. Reports said he was kicked and beaten to death, and his camera was smashed. During the evening two foreigners were attacked and beaten to death, according to one report, while another report said four were killed.

The mob then turned its attention to the homes which the terrorized foreigners had vacated and many of these were soon in flames. City officials who had wired Governor Lowden to send troops were also warned by leaders of the mob to leave town, and the disorders continued unchecked.

According to several reports, Calcuterra and Hempel were slain because they were believed to have gained information concerning the operations of a band which had committed several bank and postoffice robberies in southern Illinois recently.

West Frankfort police were informed yesterday, it is reported, that De Senis was seen to accompany the two murdered youths out of town in an automobile. It was said they were not seen afterward.

Fierce Fighting is Continuing

front shows that after a halt of several days while reinforcements were brought up and supplies forwarded along the river, the Bolsheviks forced crossings of the Bug river at a number of places. At one point southeast of Ostrov, the soviet troops are reported to have crossed the river in large numbers.

Tonight's communique from headquarters announced that the Russians had forced the Bug river in the region of Drohobizyn (about 70 miles east of the capital) this being a part of the soviet movement to outflank the defenders of Warsaw and push towards the Vistula. The Poles counter attacked and fierce fighting is continuing.

Between Drohobizyn and Brest-Litovsk the communique continues, the Poles launched a counter attack against the Russians who had crossed the Bug below Brest-Litovsk. In the region of Brest-Litovsk, which is in the hands of the Russians they are reported for an attack which compelled the Poles to evacuate Tertsopol, just west of the river.

There was fighting at various points to the south, but without gains for the Russians.

The soviet troops have been checked in their westward push along the Russian border, the statement announces. They have reached Myslenko in an advance apparently designed to bring them to the Warsaw-Banzig railway. Military observers assert that this is part of the Russian out-flanking movement planned to encircle the capital, thus saving the heavy losses which would result if Warsaw were attacked directly.

Russian gains are conceded north and east of Warsaw, where the soviet forces are regrouping for what may be the final exertion in their attempt to bring Poland to their terms of peace by directly threatening her capital.

In the center of the front bearing down upon Warsaw from the north-east, the Russians, according to the communique are being held along the Astrov-Czerwony line to the Bug.

Poles Evacuate Ostrov

LONDON, Aug. 5.—A semi-official message from Warsaw, filed last night, says the Poles have evacuated Ostrov, between the Bug and the Narew rivers. 25 miles southwest of Lomza, and about 55 miles northeast of Warsaw.

The despatch declares that Polish officials believe that the present rate of advance if maintained, would bring the Russians into Warsaw in from seven to 10 days.

EIGHT MORE DATES ON FRONT PORCH CALENDAR

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 6.—Eight more dates on Senator Harding's front porch calendar were announced today, and in addition, his headquarters made public a list of delegations who have asked for appointments but have not yet been assigned.

The dates definitely set are scattered from next Monday to Sept. 25, and it is expected that most of those on the waiting list will eventually be given appointments within this period, leaving no last month of the campaign free for such speaking trips away from Marion as the candidate may decide to take.

On Thursday, Aug. 19, members and former members of the Ohio general assembly, both republicans and democrats, are looked.

On Monday, Aug. 30, republican governors of a number of western states will be received.

On Friday, Sept. 3, a delegation of business men of foreign birth who have become naturalized citizens, and on Saturday, Sept. 25, representatives of the American Defense society.

Yankee Air Men in Big Battle

SAW today on the way to engage the Russians. The arrival also began of 75-millimeter guns which the French used against the Germans on the western front. Several artillery detachments with these guns as their weapons left for the eastern front where fighting with the Russians was in progress. These batteries were expected to begin action on Friday.

Holsevik Forces Checked

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Russian Bolshevik forces which have been attacking the Poles northeast of Warsaw for the purpose of cutting communications between that city and Danzig, seem to have been checked for the time being by the desperate defense of the Polish armies. Despatches received here appear to indicate an improvement in the military situation in that sector of the front.

Observers are inclined, however, to look on the fighting near Brest-Litovsk, east of Warsaw, with some concern, as the Bolsheviks have massed large forces in an effort to break through there. It is felt that the outcome of the battle now being waged in that region may decide the fate of Poland.

It is possible the apparent slowing down of the soviet attack in the north may be due, however, to difficulties encountered in bringing food, munitions and reinforcements to the front over country roads that are believed to have been thoroughly wrecked by the Poles. If this is the case, the Poles may be given only a brief breathing spell before being called upon to meet the impact of another tremendous drive toward their capital.

While their comrades were launching a counter offensive in the north, the Poles fighting on southern sectors of the line, have struck back at the Bolsheviks and have driven them from territory that they had won in Galicia. In this region, however, there is reason to believe the soviet armies are not so strong nor so flushed with victory as they have been further north, where the Polish line has been crumpled up by the attacks launched against it.

Rumania has begun the concentration of forces in Bessarabia. Whether this move is for the purpose of relieving the pressure against Poland or to force the withdrawal of soviet troops now on Rumanian soil, has not as yet developed. A Geneva despatch indicates considerable Bolshevik unrest in Rumania. Conversations between the French and British governments relative to steps to be taken to induce the Bolsheviks to halt their attack, or to help Poland, went on all day yesterday, but no official announcement on the subject has as yet been made.

Germany Bars Passage

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—The German government is determined to prevent by all means the entrance from sending troops through Germany to help Poland, according to a declaration made in the reichstag yesterday by Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister. Dr. Simons intimated that if the necessity arose Germany would fight to prevent such a violation of German territory.

definite announcement regarding the prohibition issue.

Democratic leaders here seemed agreed that the league undoubtedly would be the great campaign battle-ground and awaited with keen interest the address of Gov. Cox, which he has announced, will be so plain that school children may understand it. His promises for an aggressive and offensive campaign carried personally to the people from coast to coast also apparently found unanimous favor.

Besides the interests of himself and Franklin D. Roosevelt, the vice presidential candidate, Gov. Cox is planning to carry with the national ticket a democratic congress.

The governor is scheduled to begin tomorrow's address about 2 o'clock, several hours after newspaper publication of his address in most localities.

The parade of visiting delegations, expected to aggregate about 15,000, is to start for the Montgomery county fair grounds about 1 o'clock.

F. D. ROOSEVELT BUSY AT DESK ON LAST DAY AS ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF NAVY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee for vice president, today spent his last day as assistant secretary of the navy at his desk at the navy department. He was busy clearing away a mass of details that had accumulated during his recent visit to Maine and preparing his office for his successor, not yet named.

Mr. Roosevelt planned to send a radio message of farewell to all the ships and stations of the navy throughout the world. He already had said good-bye to the bureau chiefs of the navy department. He planned to hold an informal reception for employees and officers of the navy department before relinquishing his duties.

Mr. Roosevelt expected to leave Washington late this afternoon for Dayton to attend Gov. Cox's notification ceremony tomorrow. From Dayton, Mr. Roosevelt expects to go to his home in Hyde Park, N. Y., arriving there Sunday night. His own notification ceremony is scheduled to take place at Hyde Park Monday. On Tuesday Mr. Roosevelt plans to leave for Chicago to begin a speaking tour through the west.

BEGIN ROUND UP OF I. W. W. MEMBERS

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 6.—Ten men, said to be members of Industrial Workers of the World locals of Washington, Idaho, and Oregon, were arrested by county, federal and city officers who dispersed a gathering of alleged members of the organization at a point seven miles northeast of this city yesterday. They were placed in the county jail here.

The officers who conducted the arrests declared that the action is the beginning of a wholesale campaign to arrest members of the I.W.W. here during the next three or four days. The men were congregated near the highway, in a shallow gully behind a large signboard. They were seated in a ring on the ground and offered no resistance to arrest. Officers were left on guard to arrest any other members who might appear later.

Under a court injunction members of the I.W.W. are prohibited from meeting in this country.

PRESIDENT TAKES CARRIAGE DRIVE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—For the first time since his long illness President Wilson went driving yesterday in a carriage. On all of his trips heretofore the president used the White House automobile, which has become familiar to crowds motoring through Rock Creek park.

Mrs. Wilson accompanied the president and a secret service man sat on the box with the driver. Other secret service men accompanying him followed close behind in an electric runabout. Few persons recognized the president as his carriage left the White House grounds in a drizzling rain.

Alfred Paquette, aged 21 years, a resident of Sixth avenue, was arrested last evening by Sergt. Frawley and Patrolmen Trudel and Clancy and booked at the police station as a fugitive from justice. Paquette coming to Lowell. When questioned at the station Paquette admitted being with the trio when the assault was committed and said the only part he took in the assault was to place his hand over the victim's mouth in order to prevent him from giving the alarm. PREMIER AND ASQUITH CLASH

Bitter Debate on Irish Crimes
Bill—Motion to Reject
Beaten

Asquith Blames Government for Irish Trouble—Says
Cromwell Needed

LONDON, Aug. 5.—After a debate which developed great heat and a personal scene between Premier Lloyd George and Herbert H. Asquith, the government at 11 o'clock last night defeated the motion of John Robert Clynes (Labourite) for rejection of the new Irish crimes bill and the measure passed second reading by a vote of 259 to 71. The voting was carried out under a motion moved in the house early yesterday by Andrew Bonar Law, providing for passage of the bill by 8 o'clock this evening.

At the very opening of the debate the days of Parnell were recalled. Mr. Asquith started an angry duel with the premier by declaring the situation in Ireland needed Cromwellian treatment, but that he could see no Cromwell in the government. The premier retorted, describing Mr. Asquith as Cromwell when he was in power.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary of Ireland, opened the discussion by explaining it was not intended for the bill to supersede the ordinary courts; it would only apply to disturbed areas at the discretion of the Irish government and would not be operated in a revengeful spirit.

Mr. Asquith then spoke, blaming the government for the present position in Ireland. This met with angry cries of dissent. He declared he was not scared by the spectre of an Irish republic, because he believed to concede dominion home rule to Ireland would cause the cry for a republic to dwindle away.

Heated protests were made that Asquith had never offered a solution of the difficulty.

"No," he replied, "but I am prepared to offer one now."

Mr. Lloyd George, in his attack on Mr. Asquith stated it was useless to make vague, ill-considered suggestions about dominion home rule and challenged Mr. Asquith to present the name of any one in Ireland able to speak for the Irish people, who would accept his dominion proposal.

There was not a single dominion, the premier added, but possessed an army and power to possess a navy; and asked whether Mr. Asquith would give Ireland an army and navy.

Irish ports, Mr. Lloyd George asserted, were the most dangerous spots in the empire. Were these to be handed over to the dominion parliament?

"Mr. Asquith is merely shirking the difficulty and making worse the situation," declared the premier, "by allowing it to be made known throughout Ireland and America that though these things are not intended, British statesmen are willing to give Ireland self-government."

Throughout his speech the premier was subjected to interruptions from both sides of the house. Intervention of the speaker is only being required to preserve order. It is the courses of his remarks against Mr. Asquith, the premier said it might have been supposed from Mr. Asquith's speech that Ireland was a paradise in 1913, whereas, he declared, the facts were that in that year there was an army of over 150,000 men in Ireland engaged in treacherous conspiracy and in negotiations with the Germans. He said this army had undertaken to attack Great Britain two months after the German offensive, of which it had been informed.

"It was in the same year," he went on, "we discovered documents in the pockets of men who are now leaders of Southwest Ireland, showing there was an arrangement between them and the Germans to attack us at the moment of our greatest peril."

Mr. Lloyd George's general argument was that the government was prepared to make great concessions for the sake of peace, good will, and partnership, but, he said, any dominion solution required definite assertions regarding the army, navy and ports, and denying the position of Ulster, which could not be forced into a home rule parliament.

No disposition to accept such a solution, continued the premier, was apparent in south and west Ireland. On the contrary he said the south and west were demanding something long-land could never concede except as a result of disaster and defeat. He believed there were hopeful indications of changing views concerning these extravagant demands, but while the campaign of outrage and murder continued, he stated, there was no alternative but the bill the government was now proposing.

The rule to confine the debate in the second reading of the Irish crimes bill to four hours, with final action tomorrow evening, was adopted, after some discussion, by a vote of 273 to 65. T. P. O'Connor, Sir Donald Maclean, Mr. Clynes and others who attacked the "hurry-up" method, declared their attack was not aimed against the bill itself, but contained a measure "removing constitutional rights of British citizens by the denial of trial by jury."

Mr. O'Connor asserted that with 20 coercion bills passed by parliament in the past 120 years, the least time for debate on any was 21 days.

Mr. Bonar Law pleaded for quick action because of what he termed the "necessity for settling up a sort of court system for Ireland immediately."

RENEW EFFORTS TO FIND BABY

Officers Now Believe Pascol,
Held at Philadelphia, Was Hired to Kidnap Boy

Think Missing Child Held by Woman—Pascol Admits
Taking $12,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—Believing that Augusto Pascol, who was arrested Monday at Egg Harbor, N. J., not only is the man who obtained $12,000 from George H. Coughlin, father of the kidnapped Norristown baby, but is the actual abductor, federal and state authorities working on the case renewed their efforts today to learn the whereabouts of the child.

Pascol, who is also known to the police as Pasquale, and who has served prison terms in this and other cities, admits, according to postal inspectors, that he went to Egg Harbor last Monday to get $10,000 which Mr. Coughlin was to throw from a train as additional ransom for the return of the missing boy. He declares, the authorities say, that he was hired by another person to get the money and that he knows nothing of the kidnapping.

This, postal officials assert, leads them to believe that he also was hired to do the kidnapping. They think the person who hired him was a woman and that the baby is unharmed and in her keeping. State police and postal inspectors are now seeking her.

Investigation has established beyond doubt, according to George A. Leonard, chief postal inspector, that Pascol was the writer of "The Crank" letters demanding $12,000 ransom, which was left by Mr. Coughlin under a deserted trolley station on the outskirts of Norristown. The money disappeared and no trace of the child was found.

When he was released from prison

QUESTIONS ACTIONS OF DRY AGENTS

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The question as to whether United States Commissioner Hayes should pass upon the methods used by prohibition agents in obtaining liquor evidence came up at length yesterday during the hearings of Max Cohen and Louis Hoffman, both of whom reside in the same tenement on Kimball avenue, Revere.

Liquor in Homes
Both men were arrested, liquor being found in their homes.

Mrs. Cohen told the court she and her husband arrived at their door from a movie show to find the agents ringing the bell. She asked their business and they said, "They were federal agents and were going to search the place," she said. They admitted they had no warrant, but also stated "They didn't need one," said Mrs. Cohen. This, however, the agent denied. She also said the alcohol, which was seized, she had bought before the prohibition law went into effect.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Hutton believed the commissioner simply should consider the evidence that was before him. "That won't go down," said Commissioner Hayes. "Has a man the right to go into another's house and say 'I am a federal agent, I want to search?' If there are any of this opinion in this district, I'll look them over. Otherwise I should rule they were acting illegally."

The Cohen case was postponed, but Hoffman, whose case was somewhat similar, was discharged.

Here last March, after serving nine months, Pascol had no money. When he applied for a room in a lodging house in this city in June, shortly after Mr. Coughlin's $12,000 disappeared, he is said to have been plentifully supplied with funds. About the same time he deposited more than $2000 in a local trust company and later purchased a chicken farm at New Gretna, N. J., and an automobile.

Hollow rubber balls have been patented by a Massachusetts man to be slipped over the legs of hens to discourage them from sitting.

Community Field Day

The tower farm on the Boston road, where the place was given a thorough inspection. Later, the party went to the Harry Dunlap farm, where a fine tractor demonstration was given. The last place visited was the garden truck farm of Mr. John Farmer, where the growing of tomatoes, sweet corn, cauliflower, etc., was explained. A. R. Jenks, county horticultural agent, acted as guide.

While the men were enjoying their automobile trip, the women gathered in the town hall and listened to a very interesting and instructive address on clothing efficiency by Miss Margaret L. Robinson, county home demonstration agent. At noon, the men and women gathered on the common and partook of a basket lunch.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, there was an entertainment which included readings by Hoyt L. Conary of Waltham, and between the hours of 2:30 and 4, a play festival was staged for the children under the direction of Manager F. D. Griggs. In the course of the afternoon, it was announced that similar events will be conducted in the near future at Groton, Stoneham and Framingham. The local committee in charge of the affair consisted of Charles A. Wright, director, and E. F. Dickinson.

LOWELL MAN PASSES BAR EXAMINATION

FOUR STEAMSHIPS RUSH TO AID FREIGHTER

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Four steamships today were hurrying to the aid of the new freighter Supertico, which sent a radio message last night saying she was leaking badly and was heading for Halifax. The Supertico was launched two months ago. She was bound from New York for Havre and when she first reported her trouble was 100 miles south of Halifax. The steamers which responded to her call were the Bristol, Norden, Western Maid and West Noma. She arranged to keep in touch with them hourly through the Otter Cliffs radio station.

ECONOMIC UNION OF SLAVIC NATIONS

NEW YORK, August 6.—The formation of an "economic union" of Slavic nations lying in the triangle bounded by the Baltic, Adriatic and Black seas, will be considered at a conference between Prince Lubomirski, Polish ambassador to the United States, Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovakian charge d'affaires at Washington, and diplomatic and commercial representatives of other Slavic nations to be held at Newport, R. I., on Sunday. The menace of the Bolshevik advance was given here today, by Count Jean de Serelecki, as the reason for the proposed league, the purposes of which he said, would be to reinforce the economic strength of the anti-Bolshevik countries.

FRANK E. DUNBAR

Invited to Become Member of Unitarian Campaign

Frank E. Dunbar of this city has been invited by William H. Taft to become a member of the national committee in charge of the forthcoming Unitarian religious, educational and financial campaign, the objects of which the former president believes to be fundamental in counteracting what he terms the irreligious tendencies of the times. Mr. Taft is honorary chairman of the committee.

"You will agree with me, I am sure," he states, "that there could be no more opportune time for every agency of the Unitarian church to join in a great nation-wide movement to spread the message of Unitarian Christianity, to counteract the irreligious tendencies of the times, and to do so doing to weld our churches into a strong unified body conscious of its tremendous power for good. I say this because I feel that the spreading of Unitarianism and the strengthening of our churches are fundamental needs in our country."

The roster of the national committee, as announced by Mr. Taft, includes representative Unitarian laymen from all sections of the United States, with Ernest G. Adams of Boston as active chairman. Among these laymen are Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard University; former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts; Morton D. Hull of Chicago; Jesse H. McCall of Providence; Charles H. Strong of New York; and Edwin S. Webster of Boston.

The barn owl, when she has young, brings a mouse to her nest about every 12 minutes.

The Mourning Dove (above) was taken to Dr. Arnold's bird hospital with his wing almost shot away. While the bird will never be able to fly again, its life was saved and it is a permanent inmate of the hospital. At right is Dr. Arnold feeding an orphan robin.

WOUNDED BIRDS ARE NURSED AT HOSPITAL

By MABEL ABBOTT
N. E. A. Staff Correspondent
COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Aug. 6—Doctors and hospitals for horses, dogs and even cats, are not uncommon. But when a bird is hurt, it generally lies where it falls, to live or die without help.

Colorado Springs birds are lucky. If any child finds a sick or injured bird, he brings it to Dr. Arnold's bird hospital to be cured.

A Friend to Birds

Dr. W. W. Arnold, Colorado Springs physician, for years has maintained in his back yard a little hospital where all that he knows of medicine and surgery is at the service of any bird that needs it. Two or three times a year he visits every school in the city and some at considerable distances, taking with him some of his feathered patients and tells the children their stories, while the birds sit fearlessly on his hand.

As a result, the children are always on the lookout for birds in trouble, and the hospital is always full.

In it at present there are five mourning doves, a tanager—a magnificent fellow with red head, yellow breast and black back, who was brought in two months ago with a broken wing and his tail pulled out—two desert larks, a black-headed grosbeak, a Bohemian

waxwing, a magpie, a junco, five Mexican finches and a whole orphan asylum of baby robins who had fallen out of their nests or been bereft of their parents.

Cheerful Patients

A section of quill from a chicken's feather, split lengthwise and sterilized, makes a fine splint for a leg no bigger than a straw. A shred of tape is a bandage for a broken wing. A drop of castor oil is a dose.

Dr. Arnold's smallest patient was a hummingbird, and his largest a golden eagle.

They are cheerful convalescents, he says, though they will pick their bandages off if they get a chance.

"More birds are hurt in the city than in the country," Dr. Arnold explained, as he fed a motherless baby robin with Hamburg steak. "Cats and telephone wires and all sorts of dangers lie in wait for them."

"A severe hailstorm once brought me 50 robins. I was able to save a good many."

Would Spread Idea

"I am trying to create a sentiment that will carry on the work of practical bird protection. The co-operation of the children is the most important thing."

Dr. Arnold received a letter recently from John Burroughs in which the great naturalist praised his work.

OPPOSITION IN THE ICE BUSINESS

"A horse, a horse, my kingdom for a horse."

Bill Shakespeare, in these many days ago, made somebody say that, in "Richard the Third."

And ever since we've been looking for some nag that would fill the bill.

At last! We take great pleasure in presenting Old Bill. He's a thoroughbred equine, has four legs, one tail, a nose, two ears and a couple of perfectly good eyes. And Charlie Darwin tells us that those are the necessary elements that constitute a horse.

(Of course, Old Bill, under those specifications, might be a cow, a camel or a zebra—but he's a horse.)

When we first met William (that's what we called him before we got well acquainted) he was on the front end of an ice cart on the island of Pass-a-grille, four miles into the Gulf of Mexico from St. Petersburg, Fla., across Boca Ciega bay.

Bill (as we later knew him) was the most popular nag on the four-mile strip of land. Also he was the only nag on the island. On hot days, when the back porch ice chest contained nothing but space, his presence was especially appreciated.

Now we have discovered that somebody drove a silver over the bay and started in the ice business in opposition to Bill.

And should Bill worry? He should say not! The southern climate, well known for its spirit of laziness, had that effect on the old ice horse. They do say that toward the end of his business days he grew so slow that the 60 pound hunk of frozen water melted down to half that amount by the time it was delivered.

And just when we were about to hang a white lily on Bill, we happened to think of "a horse, a horse," etc.

It slips our mind just what that horse was wanted for, but Bill is long on service and we'll bet our brown derby that Bill can fill the bill.

And when you stop to think, our idea not only sounds logical but very appropriate—who knows but that Old Bill was named after Bill Shakespeare—more than likely, many years after.

Shakespeare never denied this. So, with very little ceremony, we herewith turn the reins of William over to his new duty—and if he fails his task, we win anyway—it's a horse on somebody.

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO ACT ON FELT'S PLEA

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—Gov. Coolidge announced yesterday that he had declined to take action on pleas for clemency in behalf of Francisco Felt, under sentence of death for the murder of Fred Soule, the murdered man, was an attorney for Felt presented affidavits purporting to show that the murder was committed by Luigi Felt, brother of Francisco, whose present whereabouts are unknown. Felt's execution has been set for the week of Aug. 15. Gov. Coolidge yesterday said that he had received the impression from evidence adduced in the hearing that there remained nothing for him to do to change the course of the court's decree.

The governor states that the evidence tends to show that Louis Fred Soule, the murdered man, was an industrious, estimable person, who was done away with for the protection of Felt, who had been caught with stolen goods. Soule, a law-abiding citizen was unfortunate, in that he had come in contact with Felt and his friends when the latter were engaged in an unlawful transaction.

JOHN BARRYMORE WEDS MRS. THOMAS

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—John Barrymore, widely-known actor, and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, formerly Miss Blanche Oelrichs, socially prominent in this city, were married here yesterday in the Ritz Carlton hotel.

Rev. Dr. Charles D. Bullard, New York Presbyterian clergyman, performed the ceremony. It was attended by Mrs. Charles M. Oelrichs, the bride's mother; Mrs. Russell G. Colt (Ethel Barrymore), a sister of the groom; Thomas G. Patton, New York's postmaster; Mrs. D. Mackey of Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, brother and sister-in-law of the groom, and Mrs. John McCulloch, in whose apartment the wedding took place.

Mr. Barrymore broke down in health here last spring during the run of "Richard III," in which he was starred. This is his second marriage. His first wife was Katherine C. Harris, a New York society girl who divorced him several years ago.

Mrs. Thomas, who has written considerable poetry under the pen name of "Michael Strange," was married to Leonard Thomas, New York clubman, in 1910. She recently obtained a decree of divorce in Paris. They had two children.

Mr. Barrymore, whose real name is Blythe, gave his age as 37 and Mrs. Thomas as 29.

LEAGUE DISCUSSESMILITARY PLAN

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 5.—The council of the League of Nations had as a part of its program for discussion

yesterday afternoon the establishment of a military and naval commission. This is not, as some published accounts of the project have stated, a plan for a military general staff for the League of Nations, but simply a consultative body within the league, its principal mission being to advise the league regarding restrictions upon the manufacture of arms and munitions.

The proposed commission also would give advice to the league as to disarmament and other questions on which the council requires expert advice, without which, it is pointed out, it could scarcely act upon any military question.

Its prospective task is described by Leon Bourgeois, French member of the council, as "in accordance with the provisions of the covenant" to "regulate the armament of the forces of new states admitted to the league, and the reduction of armaments."

"We are still of the opinion that direct negotiations with Poland for

The conference in London between Russia and the leading powers of the entente, the communication says, "would have for its object the regularization of the international position of Russia and the settlement of all outstanding questions between her and the allies for the benefit of general peace."

M. Kamenoff also refers to his interview with Premier Lloyd George Wednesday night and states that he forwarded to the soviet government the premier's statement "with regard to the decision of the British government to side with Poland and to renew the blockade in consequence of the invasion of ethnographical Poland by the troops of the soviet government."

COMMITTEE OF 48 TO LEAVE FARMER-LABOR

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—An announcement that the committee of forty-eight was preparing to withdraw formally from all connection with the farmer-labor party, of which Parley P. Christensen is the presidential nominee, yesterday followed closely charges by H. A. McCulloch and Charles A. Weaver who, in resigning as officials and members of the Utah farmer-labor organization, declared the party was controlled by the Industrial Workers of the World.

Reorganization of the committee of forty-eight along the lines of the party will be undertaken at a meeting of the executive committee next Monday, according to Allen McCurdy, secretary of the forty-eighters. In a statement issued today he said the farmer-labor party is a "radical" organization and does not adhere to the principles upon which the committee of forty-eight attempted to build a national party.

Replying to the charges of McCulloch and Weaver, Mr. Christensen declared that the farmer-labor party is not under I.W.W. control, but is composed of "every-day Americans seeking relief from the intolerable economic autocracy obtaining in this country."

In a formal statement, Mr. Christensen challenged the political integrity of McCulloch and Weaver.

Mr. McCurdy delivered the keynote address at the Chicago convention last month when the committee of forty-eight attempted through amalgamation with the labor and single tax parties and adherents of other political creeds, to form a party which should "oppose with equal firmness both reaction and revolution."

"The labor party of the United States," Mr. McCurdy said, "started out to create a class party which should appeal only to organized workers to the end that control of the American Federation of Labor should pass from its present leadership into that of the insurgents and to introduce guild socialism into American life."

"It is plain to any intelligent person that it is impossible for these two to meet, join, merge or amalgamate. Oil and water do not mix."

Mr. McCurdy asserted that while the committee of forty-eight had been nominally represented at the convention which nominated Mr. Christensen, most of the leaders and delegates had gone to their homes when they saw that the principles of the forty-eighters had been "swallowed" completely by the radicalism of the laborers.

With the exception of the Maryland organization and certain individuals, including Dudley Field Malone, who have subscribed to the farmer-labor platform, the committee of forty-eight is still intact, Mr. McCurdy said.

Late yesterday, the following telegram was received from the forty-eight headquarters from Salt Lake City:

"Utah committee of forty-eight intact. Organized labor represents the attitude of the farmer-labor party. Utah voters desire now liberal party not controlled by rabid radicals."

The message was signed by H. A. McCulloch, the former vice chairman of the Utah farmer-labor party, who resigned charging that the party had come under the control of the Industrial Workers of the World.

Before starting for Nashville, Tenn., late yesterday, Mr. Christensen sent telegrams to Senator Harding and Governor Cox of Ohio, urging that they go into the Tennessee state legislature and urge passage of the women suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature.

"I have received the appalling information that ratification by Tennessee is in grave doubt," the message declares.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS INVITES GERMANY

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 6. (By the Associated Press.)—The representative of every government participating in the international financial conference to be held in Brussels on Sept. 24, will be asked to present a balance sheet showing the actual financial situation of his nation, it was decided at Wednesday's meeting of the council of the League of Nations, in session here. All countries will be asked not to issue any more paper money, so as to avoid a further weakening of foreign credit.

Efforts will be made, through a commission of experts, to arrive at an equitable arrangement for exchange between Germany and Austria and other nations, the money of the former central empires being regarded as beyond restoration to its pre-war exchange value. The invitation to Ger-

ORGANIZING BUILDING FUND CAMPAIGN

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Friends and alumni of St. Elizabeth's college, located at Convent station, N. J., about 21 miles from New York city and two miles from Morristown, N. J., the first Catholic college for women in the United States and the first college for women in New Jersey, are organizing a building fund campaign for the erection of an additional residence hall for students. The proposed building is urgently needed to meet the growing demand of applicants for student enrollment, it was announced. It has been estimated that $350,000 will be required for the new building.

Headquarters for the building fund campaign has been opened at 113 Liberty street, New York, and the active co-operation of volunteer workers in the campaign is now being enlisted. The movement has the endorsement of Bishop John J. O'Connor, head of the Newark diocese, in which St. Elizabeth's is located, as well as the support of many priests and laymen.

The college was founded in 1899 by Mother Mary Xavier, founder of the Sisters of Charity of New Jersey. Mother Mary Xavier, who died in 1916, was well known in educational and philanthropic circles, having founded more than 100 schools, including six academies and 83 parochial schools. She also founded six hospitals, five orphanages, three infant asylums, a home for incurables and a home for working girls, some of which are located in New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts, the majority being in New Jersey.

St. Elizabeth's fills the requirements demanded by the federal bureau of education for a standard college, and its degrees are accepted by the universities of the country on a par with those of the leading men's and women's colleges. Among the 27 Sisters of Charity who are members of the faculty of 35, there are graduates of Columbia, New York, Chicago and other universities.

many to participate in this conference is conceded to be tantamount to notice that she will be accepted as a member of the League of Nations, it she makes application.

Thirty allied, neutral and enemy states will be asked to join in the conference, the program of which will comprise four principal subjects—the financial policies of the different states, exchange and paper circulation, commercial relations and the re-establishment of international credit. The league budget submitted at Wednesday's meeting showed the expenses of the council are growing as the number of commissions at work is multiplied. It asked for $500,000 ($1,000,000 at present exchange) for the ensuing six months.

EVERY FLOWER HAS A STORY OF ITS OWN

Cruelty in love is the meaning of the marigold in the language of flowers.

Significa Nicks

To dream of marigolds, it was believed, would bring riches, success and a happy marriage. An old Breton superstition says that if a maiden touches the flower with her bare foot, she will understand the language of birds.

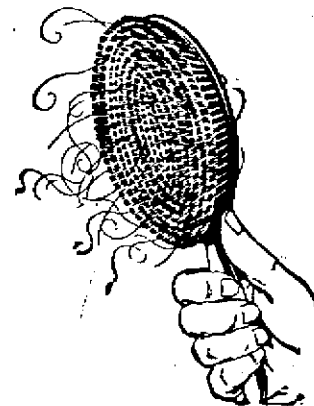

The Mexicans call the marigold the flower of death, as it was believed that it sprang up from the blood of the natives slain by the early Spanish invaders in their lust for gold.

Color of Jealousy

The ancient Greeks tell the myth of the origin of the flower. Apollo was the handiwork of the gods, and all the nymphs and shepherdesses fell in love with him. His sister Diana had as her attendants four wood-nymphs, who were wildly enamored of Apollo and quarreled frequently because of their jealousy of each other. Diana became very angry, and transformed the four nymphs into marigolds and since then yellow has been the color of jealousy.

FAMOUS ANARCHIST ARRESTED AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—John Alexander, alias John S. Branch, alleged international anarchist, and said to be a member of the German communist labor party, was arrested here yesterday at the request of the New York authorities.

Federal authorities said the arrest was the most important made since the war.

Alexander, or Lagranch, is said to be wanted in the east as a draft dodger. He has been distributing German propaganda in this country for some time, according to the police.

The arrest was made by Detective Sergeant Egan and members of the anarchist squad.

Egan took the man before Harry Landis, immigration inspector, who held him on the specific charge of attempting to obtain a forged passport. He is alleged to have tried to get a passport for a man named Hoffman, who is now in Germany. Egan was seized in the search of Alexander's apartment.

Three hundred and forty-three death sentences were carried out in the British army during the war.

FAIRVIEW, N. J., Aug. 6.—After shooting and killing his father early today in defense of his mother, Louis F. Gross, Jr., 21 years old, telephoned to the police and awaited arrest. Gross, police say, declared that his father was choking Mrs. Gross when she returned from a trip to Asbury Park with her son's girl friend. Four of six shots fired at the father Gross took effect.

Auburn, Me., Shoe Plant to Close

AUBURN, Me., Aug. 6.—Production at the Luna & Sweet shoe factories will be suspended Saturday until the last of the month, it was announced here today by W. T. Moran, vice president. Office and shipping departments will remain open. It will affect 1000 employees. No reasons were given.

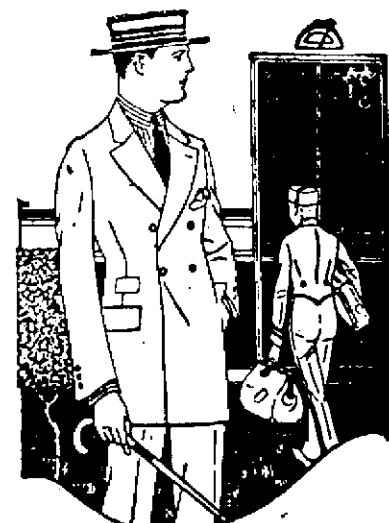

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

PONZI PLANS COMPANY

Projected $200,000,000 Firm
to be Formed—Palmer
May Act on Case

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—John P. Caswell, Robert John and Joseph E. Herman, all of New York, held a long conference at the Copley Plaza yesterday with Charles Ponzi, whose Securities Exchange company is under investigation by state and federal officials. At the close of the conference Mr. Ponzi came downstairs to announce that his projected $200,000,000 company will be formed as he had originally said it would.

The New Yorkers represented the Commonwealth Trading and Securities corporation of 25 West Forty-Third street. Mr. Caswell is the vice president of and a director in the Bolivian Wool company; Mr. John is an Englishman who is said to have large New York interests, and Mr. Herman was formerly associated with Cecil Rhodes. The new company will be called the "Charles Ponzi company," and will start a string of banks, an export business with steamship agencies and other businesses. Mr. Ponzi would not say whether the company would be on a partnership basis; he said yesterday's conference was the third he had had with these men, and that more are still to come. He promised a complete statement tomorrow.

Can Audit Only What Ponzi Offers.

The federal investigation of Ponzi's business went on behind closed doors again yesterday. U. S. Atty. Gallagher is on his way to Washington to confer with Atty. Gen. Palmer. Mr. Storch remains in Boston, and the federal officials' audit continues.

It is now known that Mr. Pride, the auditor, cannot finish his work before Wednesday or Thursday of next week. His work is different in this case than in the usual case where business is arbitrarily stopped by the authorities, and all the books and papers of the concern under investigation are taken over.

In the Ponzi case the accountant gets the papers, the cancelled notes and the cards showing notes still outstanding, on arrival at a time. When he has them all, he will have only what the Ponzi people give him as a total. If Ponzi should hold out some of his liabilities, the accountant would have no way of knowing that fact.

Mr. Ponzi issued 40,000 notes. As the work progresses, it is possible to make a guess at the total number of notes Ponzi issued; they may possibly come between 40,000 and 50,000. But the numbering is not consecutive, though the notes bear serial numbers. There are duplications of some series, and blanks in others—all of which will make the accounting slower.

Yesterday's business of redemption of notes showed another falling off. About 430 notes were redeemed during the day, the total amount of money checked out being $166,992, according to Ponzi's office manager. The largest single note paid during the day was for $15,000—and it came from a bank.

It was explained that this only meant a man in the banking business had held it. How much still remains to be redeemed nobody but Ponzi can say. It is even probable that he himself will not know accurately until he sees the accountant's report. When his liabilities are made known to him, Ponzi says, he will produce the cash to cover them.

Allow $5000 for Investigation

But the quotation of Mr. Pride as saying, "I never saw so much money in my life," seems to have been a mistake. He hasn't seen any money at all yet. All he can say so far is that Ponzi and his employees have seemed to be entirely honest, have turned over the cards and cancelled notes as fast as they could—considering that they really need some of the material to check on payments being demanded—and so far have shown nothing that tends toward indicating any criminal business was under way.

A federal bank examiner came to Boston yesterday to confer with Asst. Dist. Atty. Shea, but as he has nothing to do with trust companies and Ponzi has done business entirely with such banks, there seems to be little significance in the visit.

Up on Beacon Hill the governor and council allowed it to be known yesterday that they had compromised on Atty. Gen. Allen's demand for $10,000

"Can't Cut Off My Leg" Says Railroad Engineer

"I am a railroad engineer; about 20 years ago my leg was seriously injured in an accident out West. Upon my refusing to allow the doctor to amputate it I was told it would be impossible to heal the wound. I have tried all kinds of salves and had many doctors in past 20 years, but to no avail. Finally I resolved to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT on my leg. You cannot imagine my astonishment when I found it was doing what over 100 things had failed to do. My leg is now completely cured."—Quas. Jault, 739 Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"It makes me feel proud to be able to produce an ointment like that," says Peterson of Buffalo. "Not only do I guarantee Peterson's Ointment for old sores and wounds, but for eczema, salt rheum, nicks, chafing, itching skin and blind bleeding or itching piles, and I put up a box for 60 cents at all druggists, a price all can afford to pay and money back if not satisfied." Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

for the expenses of investigating Ponzi and the automobile theft cases. He was allowed $5000. In the afternoon Atty. Gen. Oscar L. Young of New Hampshire was in conference with Mr. Allen for a long time on the Ponzi case.

ROMANTIC WEDDING

New Hampshire "Cider King" Weds Childhood Sweetheart

N. H. A. Staff Special
PERERBOROUGH, Eng., Aug. 6.—After waiting 40 years for the return from the United States of E. S. Cave, "the Cider King," of Hollis, N. H., her childhood chum, Olive Neal of Peterborough, has at last become the bride of her first love.

This romantic wedding, with its story of a woman's patience and a man's wanderings abroad and reappearance at the door of the home of the first sweetheart of his boyhood days, has greatly stirred England.

Cave had seen his prospective bride but once, when she was 15 years old, though the two families corresponded for years.

Cave left England for the United States in 1881. Reaching Chicago almost penniless he went to work at a coal yard. Later he was in the meat business in the west.

He kept books. He made butter. He worked as an inventor—patented a churn and cleaned up.

The late J. P. Morgan saw Cave making butter and took him to superintend his model farm near West Point. While with the millionaire Cave captured most of the prizes for cattle, sheep, chickens and butter at the Orange county fairs.

The last 17 years he has lived at Hollis, N. H. He was a Justice of the peace and an apple grower. Hollis knew him as "The Cider King." They a few months ago Cave wrote and asked Miss Neal to marry him. Both are now 65 years old. They are going to settle down in the old country.

THE STRAND

"Pa-jor, Bedroom and Bath," the farce that set New York giggling, and that soon spread all over the country on the stage, is being shown at the Strand theatre the last half of the present week, and it is acknowledged by all as positively the funniest picture in conception and in execution presented locally in many long months. It is really a very cleverly written story. The situations are primed with laughter and the acting by Ruth Stonehouse, Eugene Palladio and others is quite in a class by itself. Don't miss this screaming picture. Gladys Brockwell, the eminent dramatic star, is also appearing in one of her best pictures, "A Sister in Salem." It is the story of a woman's dual existence.

MEMORABLE SQUARE THEATRE

"Sherry," the Edgar Lewis production now showing at the Memorable Square theatre, is the story of a young American who had more money than was good for him. He spent a fortune in short order and then landed the natives of his home town a surprise by turning over a new leaf and getting some expertly earned money. The picture is an adaptation of George Barr McCutcheon's novel of the same name and it is replete with romance and adventure. Pat O'Malley plays the title role and he is supported by an all-star cast. "The Woman God Sent," a story of political life, featuring Gene Keefe, the International News, Photoplay Magazine and a comedy round out the bill.

The price of an Egyptian war chariot at the time of Solomon was about $200.

CLARKE AND WILSON MAY MEET IN N. Y.

Johnny Wilson, who recently defeated Mike O'Dowd, may defend his middleweight laurels against Jackie Clarke, the A.E.P. titleholder, over the 15 rounds' trail, to a decision, in Madison Square Garden, when boxing reopens in New York state. Tex Rickard is anxious to clinch the match and it is up to Wilson's manager to sign the articles.
Charles W. Eltinger, the Allentown, Pa., sportsman, is handling Clarke's affairs, and he is ready to sign up for a bout with Wilson. While O'Dowd was champion Clarke fought him eight sensational rounds at Camden, N. J. Clarke has engaged in 35 contests since he was mustered out of service, against such men as George Chip, Tommy Robinson, Chuck Wiggins, and one of two other good men. His last fight was against Wiggins at Indianapolis, July 26th. Clarke has also beaten Joe Egan of Boston.

MARTIN-CARBONNE BOUT CALLED "NO CONTEST"

The Crescent A.A. resumed indoor bouts at the Hurd Street rink last night and provided three hurried preliminary events, but the main bout proved a "bloomer."
In the final number of the evening Martin of New York and Frank Carbonne of New York, two prominent middleweights, with very impressive records, were the principals.

They have performed in many bouts meeting many of the leaders of the class throughout the country, and the members looked for a strenuous number. But they looked in vain, for the two men, who before the house, evidently decided that they would do a "brother act."

They attempted to fool the wrong parties, however, for Matchmaker Harvey and Referee Gardner, had seen the men before and realized shortly after the first round, that they did not intend to perform up to the mark.

Gardner had referred and seen many bouts in which the pair had participated and he knew of their ability. He officiated in a bout between Martin and Mike O'Dowd, former champion, at Providence, and said that Mike a great fighter.

"Both are fighters and not boxers," said Billy after the bout, "and I knew the minute they attempted to do something they were going to try and put something over."

After warning the men and their managers in the first round and again in the second without any noticeable improvement, the referee gave them one minute to change their minds and take advantage of his generosity, and after looking on with disgust for about one minute of the third round the referee halted the performance and declared the bout "no contest."

Announcer Roane then hopped into the ring and informed the members to keep their checks for next week. They will admit the hearers to the Thursday night's meeting when Billy Murphy of New York and Billy Fitzsimmons of Chelsea, who appeared in a sensational 12-round draw here last Saturday, will perform in a return engagement. The announcement brought vigorous applause.

The first bout of the evening was between Young Carroll and Young Murphy. It was a hummer while it lasted with both boys working at top speed. In the fourth round Murphy slipped over a sleep producer and the curtain came down.
The second number was short and sweet. Jack Little of Lowell started out like a whirlwind against Kid Langford of Chelsea, but the speed proved too fast for him and after a fusillade of blows he went to count of his corner. The bell sounded. He went to his corner groggy and a sponge was thrown in just before the bell for the second session.
Harvey Burke and Young Ketchell, principals in the final, and it proved to be a thrilling number. It went the distance, 8 rounds, with an action every second. The pair were evenly matched and must have been in perfect condition for they traveled at a terrific clip and gave and took considerable punishment. Both hit hard and often and while they appeared a little groggy and tired at times, they always were able to come back strong. That the performers satisfied the members was indicated by the applause accorded the boxers. Referee Gardner's decision of a draw was well received. It was a good draw.

AT WOONSOCKET

Allie Wood the Great Wins With New Driver

WOONSOCKET, Aug. 6.—Allie Wood the Great captured first money in the 2.13 trot here yesterday, but it was only after the judges had pulled Dave Warman up from the sulky and put Dave Warman up. Warman was given $100 of the Allie Wood's winnings and Harlow was suspended for 10 days.
In the first two heats of the trot Allie Wood the Great acted badly on the stand and wobbled and when the third heat showed no better start, Dave Warman was called in. Under Warman's handling the gelding appeared like a different stepper and though it was not a walkaway he took the next three heats.

The 2.02 pace was the fast race and it took six heats for Hernie Hayt to lead and first honors. Baron Alta was the favorite and in the first three heats was up with the leaders, but lacked the stamina to win. The summary:

MURPHY MADE GREAT HIT AT MONTREAL

As Billy Murphy, the New York featherweight, made a great hit here when he boxed Billy Fitzsimmons at the Montreal Daily Star, giving an account of the Murphy-Lewis bout, with undoubtedly prove interesting to those who saw him perform.

"Anybody here know Murphy? His hair is red and his eyes are blue. And he's Irish through and through. Does anybody here know Murphy? Murphy with his green, green pants."

Thus warbled a happy Irishman in the bleachers at the Mount Royal arena last night when Billy Murphy of New York, thus far to Montrealers unknown, had put it all over young Lewis. Murphy was much less rugged than the local man and must have weighed pounds more necessary as Lattin.

But what he lacked in weight and ruggedness he made up in pep and knowledge of boxing backed by a fighting spirit that must have been bred into him by his generations down.

As a boxing bout, his encounter with Lewis was a farce, and with all respect to Referee Jimmie McKimney, who as a rule makes a very good third man in the ring, Lewis was a waste of time for allowing Lewis to hold three quarters of the time which the bout lasted in palpable attempts to save himself from punishment and tire out his opponent by making the full weight of his (Lewis) body on Murphy's shoulders.

Owing to Lewis' tactics the bout almost became an exhibition of wrestling in the ring. Lewis was a waste of time for Murphy would not have it. When Lewis would not come to him he went to Lewis, and before Lewis could whip his tentacle-like arms around him, Murphy usually got in a few telling blows.

Therefore thanks to Murphy's wholehearted aggressiveness, there was a fight after all, for he compelled Lewis to defend himself at times, but as to the merits of the two men there was no comparison. It is to be hoped that some day Murphy may appear again in the local ring, but better matched in regard to weight particularly.

Lewis deserved credit for his readiness to take punishment.
O'DOWD-ROBSON BOUT AUG. 21
LAWRENCE, Aug. 6.—Johnny Cuddy, Jr., the Lawrence, N.H. promoter, will stage Tommy Robson of Maine and Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul on August 21, 12 rounds to a decision, and, in the opinion of many followers of the sport, it should be a bear of a melee. The affair will clinch yesterday afternoon, following a long distance conference between Cuddy and the managers of the warriors.

This bout will be followed on August 28 with a scrap between Jack Britton and Tommy "Red" Corcoran, involving the welter title of the world, while some time later Harry Willis will be shown against either Frank Moran or John Foster Johnson.

Another big event arranged by Cuddy will bring out Lew Tindler of Philadelphia and Frankie Callahan of New York, at present stopping at Marling point, North Reading, the contest to be staged on Labor Day.

LAWRENCE K. OF C. DEFEAT LOWELL
The Lawrence Knights of Columbus got a jump on Lowell council's base-line on the South common last evening and before the first inning was over had tucked away three runs. The game ended in a 5 to 4 victory for the Lawrence boys on the mound for Lowell was the star, pitching an excellent game in every inning except the first and figuring prominently at the bat. The score:

Team	Runs	Hits	Errors
Lowell	4	10	2
Lawrence	5	8	1

39TH HOME RUN FOR "BABE" RUTH
DETROIT, Aug. 6.—Babe Ruth made his 35th home run of the season here yesterday in the opening game of the Yankee-Tigers series, which Detroit won, 7 to 1.
Ruth's homer came in the second inning. He was the first man up for the visitors in that inning and knocked Elmer's initial offering over the fence in right field. Hellmann made a circuit drive in the fourth.

In the eighth Detroit bunched five hits and an error by Pratt, the first for that player since July, 1919, gave the Tigers five runs.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

Hal Malone Wins Sweepstakes for 2.05 Pages After Losing First Heat
TOLEDO, O., Aug. 6.—Hal Malone won the sweepstakes for the 2.05 pacers after losing the first heat to John Henry, while Great Britain won the Toledo Times, 2:11 trot for three-year-olds, the features on yesterday's Grand Circuit racing card at the Port Miami track. The track was fast, the weather ideal and a large crowd turned out to see the sport.

Arion McKimney won his first race of the season on the Grand Circuit when he took the 2:12 trot, but four heats were necessary as Lattin and came through in the second heat and Walnut Frisco won the third. The heat winners then raced it off and Arion McKimney led all the way.

John Henry led the entire distance in the first heat of the 2:05 pace but Hal Malone outpaced the son of Wilkie in the next two heats, beating him in the stretch drive.

Loon Grattan won over the favorite, Gallop Bold, in the 2:02 pace, in straight heats. The last quarter of the second heat was paced in 29 seconds.

Great Britain equaled the mark made by Day Star at Keosauqua and now is tied for the fastest mile for three-year-olds this year, when he stepped both heats of the 2:11 trot in 3:2½.

PRINTERS' CHAMPIONSHIP
ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 6.—Detroit and St. Paul meet in the final game for the Printers' national baseball championship at Lexington, Mass. today. The Detroit team easily defeated the Boston nine yesterday, 12 to 6, at Minneapolis.

The winner will get possession of the Garry Herrman trophy won by Chicago at the tournament several years ago, in addition to several other prizes. The tournament began last Saturday.

NAVY YARD WORKERS DEMAND INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Hearings on the demands of navy yard workers for an increase in wages, which began yesterday before the Navy Wage board, were continued today with the prospect that they would be concluded before evening. More than 200 spokesmen for 50,000 employees in 43 navy yards of the country had asked to be heard, and the board decided to hear them in the alphabetical order of their trades.

An immediate increase in pay of approximately 40 per cent, is sought for all navy yard workers, the board heard, asked to sanction increasing of the average wage to $1.05 an hour. This rate, representatives of the employees told the wage board yesterday, is five cents an hour less than that received by workers in the same trades in private industry.

POTATOES TAKE BIG DROP IN PRICE
Potatoes are today selling in Lowell for 10 cents a peck and in some stores a little cheaper, which means a drop of over 100 per cent in less than a month. A local dealer stated this morning that in his opinion potatoes have reached their rock bottom price.

About a month ago potatoes sold in Lowell and elsewhere as high as $1.35 a peck and it was stated then that there was no chance for a drop in the price, and as a matter of fact it was believed they would get another boost before long, but conditions have changed, it seems. A drop in the price of land is also noticeable, for pure land that sold for 25 cents a pound a couple of days ago is retailing today at 23 cents a pound. Beef is going up while pork is holding its own.

TO SPEED UP COAL MOVEMENT
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Speeding up to the coal movement to the northwest sufficiently to enable delivery of 20,000,000 tons by November 1, was forecast today by officials of the Interstate Commerce commission as a result of the return to normal working conditions of bituminous miners in the central competitive field.

GOLFING STARS REACH TOLEDO
TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 6.—Golfing stars from various parts of the country are arriving for the national open tournament under the auspices of the United States Golf association over the Inverness course here today.

J. Douglas Edgar, Canadian open champion, is here, and already has Mitchell of Montreal, who has arrived and will give the course a play today.

The tournament committee, which expressed disappointment over the reported failure of Charles (Chick) Evans to enter, learned today that Evans' name has been omitted through a mistake of his secretary.

S. T. Jernham, head of the committee has received a telegram to enter his name, but the secretary neglected to mail the letter until Monday. It was understood that Evans has appeared to Secretary Vandervort to place his name on the list. Mr. Jernham also has appeared to the U. S. G. A. secretary.

Keeps Hair in Curl on Hot or Windy Days
Here's a hair curling secret that is decidedly "worth while." Just apply a little liquid silicone before doing the hair, using a clean tooth brush for the purpose, drawing this down the hair from crown to tip. In three hours you will have as beautiful curls as you can wish for. The hair will look so natural, that you will guess it was artificially curled. And it will last ever so long, regardless of heat, wind or dampness.

Any drug store and a few hundred just a long time. It is neither sticky nor greasy and is pleasant to use. It is doubly useful because of also serving as a beneficial dressing, keeping the hair soft, silky and lustrous.

For Women's Ailments

I had such severe backaches and was suffering so much that my life was made miserable; I never enjoyed a good night's rest, and was so weak and run down that I could not even attend to my ordinary household duties. Before consulting a physician, I thought of RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women, which I had so often seen advertised in the different newspapers. I have now been taking them for several months, my backache has gradually disappeared and I am now strong enough to do all my own work without undue fatigue.

—Mrs. Alderic Frappier, 127 Gaulin St., Woonsocket, R.I.

As a general tonic for women, RED PILLS are unique. They may be taken by all women, as they do not harm even the most delicate stomach. They make good rich blood, which in turn renews the system in such a short time that if a person only took these Pills in time, they would save themselves countless pains and ailments.

RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women are not only recommended as a tonic to give one strength, but at the same time under their influence, such ailments as headache, dizziness, neuralgia, neurasthenia and many others, soon disappear, as they are nearly always caused by weakness and poverty of the blood.

RED PILLS are sold in boxes of 50 pills, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes, $2.50. If they are not at your merchant's they will be sent to you by mail on receipt of price.—Franco American Chemical Company Limited, 212 Milk Street, Boston.

I was totally run-down through overwork and lack of proper rest. For several months I had continual headaches and was also very often troubled with dizziness, which was becoming rather annoying. For a whole year I had been trying different kinds of medicine, but with no avail, so that I was not very optimistic when I first started to take RED PILLS for Pale and Weak Women. However, after a few weeks' treatment I noticed a gradual improvement in my state of health, and soon after these good Pills proved their worth once more, as I became strong and well again.—Mrs. G. Gervais, 109 Summer St., Manville, R.I.

TURKS LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST GREEKS

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 5. (By Associated Press.)—The Turkish nationalists today were opening an offensive against the Greeks in the region northeast of the Sea of Marmara. The Greeks are confident, however, that they will be able to rout the forces of Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the nationalist leader, when the concentration of Greek troops from Thrace is completed.

Strikers and Breakers Clash
Continued
barns in widely separated sections of the city.
The dead: BLAKE, shot and instantly killed.

A. G. SMITH, Denver, died of bullet wounds.
Cars Blamed by Armed Men
The riots followed the first successful effort of the tramway company to carry passengers on street cars manned by armed strike breakers. Two cars were blocked by a motor truck just as a parade of strikers and sympathizers were passing. Someone threw a brick and the parade attacked the cars and crews. Car windows were smashed, protective screens torn off and strike breakers badly beaten before police could restore order. One man was shot in the foot.

Newspaper Office Attacked
The Denver Post was the next object of the mob's attack. That newspaper opposed the strike. Every window in the place was broken, presses were hammered and sand was thrown into the rollers; the business office was wrecked, records and fixtures were thrown into the street; the engraving room was demolished, and type and linotype matrices scattered through the composing room. The publishers said they would attempt to publish this afternoon.

Shoot Up Car Barns
While the mob was still at the Post, another crowd had gathered at the East Denver car barns and a third mob had attacked the South Denver barns, where 150 strike breakers, who had arrived during the day, were housed. Several hundred shots were fired at the latter place, at which the two fatalities occurred. This mob did not disperse until well after midnight.

Priests Save Men
While police were engaged in quelling these mobs, four street cars which had been waiting in a residential section for the trouble downtown to abate, were attacked by a crowd of 5000 persons. The cars were overturned and the strike breakers, after receiving a severe beating, sought refuge in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception and were saved by intervention of priests until rescued by the police. An attempt was made to burn the cars, but serious damage by fire was prevented.

Disunion Calling of Troops
All during the evening Mayor Bailey, Governor Shoup, Chief of Police Hamilton Armstrong, who was injured earlier by a flying brick, and other city officials were in conference at the state house, considering the advisability of asking for federal troops. A decision was reached early today to rely on volunteers and special policemen, all of whom were ordered to report to the city hall for strike duty today.

More Strike Breakers on Way
A. H. Burt, international organizer for the union, and President Hilberg, of the local union, in statements issued last night, deplored the mob violence and disclaimed all responsibility for the strikers.
General Manager Hill of the company announced this morning that cars would be run today. He declared that there were 500 strike breakers here and more on the way.

Under Orders to Shoot
A crowd surrounded the city hall for a short time last night and an angry mob was restrained from attacking the Tramway building, where the majority of the strike breakers are housed, by a strong armed guard which protected every entrance and exit. Mr. Hill announced that 200 armed men were kept at the darkened windows of the building with instructions to shoot if the police line below should give way.

One Passenger Injured
Early today the mob still surrounded the building, but there was no sign of violence.
The company had 14 cars running yesterday and for the first time men and women were accepted as passengers. At times in the day the cars were crowded almost to the extent of the rush hours of normal times. One passenger was injured in the rioting.

MORE LIGHTS FOR SOUTH COMMON

Recommendations that the South common be more adequately lighted, that a patrol box be placed in the center of the common and that a special officer be detailed to patrol the area in the evening are contained in the regular monthly report of Miss Emily M. Skilton, one of Lowell's policewomen, to Mayor Perry D. Thompson, covering the month of July.

Miss Skilton also reports that Miss Leah Lowell and Miss Ruth Foss of the Florence Crittenton league made a survey of the camps at Willow Dale on June 26 and 27 and found little there to criticize.

The average age of young women coming under the care of the local policewomen is 17, Miss Skilton reports, and they represented during the month of July 16 different nationalities. Mrs. Mary M. Hearn and Miss Lowell have also submitted reports of their work for the month to the mayor.

BOARD FAILS TO HEAR STRIKERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—The United States Board of Mediation and Conciliation failed today to hear a delegation of striking railway employees, headed by John Gruhan, president of the Chicago Yardmen's association, appealing in behalf of men anxious to return to work. Members of the board were not present and the delegation was informed by the secretary that it would be necessary to file formal application asking for consideration of their claims.
